Southern Mayors Organize Group In Memphis Meet

By SAM HANNA
 World Staff Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Some 240 delegates from 10 states Friday organized the Southwide Association of Municipal Officials by adopting a constitution based on conservative principals.

SAMO came into being at a harmonious afternoon session when the constitution, amended by minor changes, was adopted on 11 principals that basically advocate the "decentralization of government."

With the constitution approved, Mayor W. L. Howard, of Monroe, temporary conference chairman, recessed the conference until 10 a.m. Saturday for the election of officers.

He will be nominated by a 60-man Louisiana delegation to serve as SAMO's first president, Mayor President Jack Christian of Baton Rouge said.

3-HOUR DEBATE

The delegates, from every state in the south with the exception of North Carolina, debated for over three hours on the constitution an executive committee spent two days in preparing.

Briefly, the constitution calls for the "preservation of state sovereignty," "a return to constitutional government," and "the decentralization of government."

In addition, SAMO, under its new constitution, will "promote better understanding of southwide problems through education, solve problems common to southwide municipalities through cooperation and strengthen the southwide economy by encouraging industrial growth."

City Atty. Haynes Harkey Jr. of Monroe outlined the constitution to the delegates, who met in state groups after his explanation and returned for adoption.

Ten articles included in the policy document set down regulation under which SAMO is to be operated. Harkey explained that basically the southwide organization will be run on much the same basis as the state municipal leagues with a president, vice president, and

Japan Riots Flare Over Soviet Visit

TOKYO (AP)—About 1,600 banner-waving ultrarightists, hundreds of them clad in steel helmets and leather boots, clashed Friday with police guarding the Soviet Embassy. The demonstrators were protesting a visit to Japan next week by Soviet Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan. Police, grouped in ranks five deep, threw back two charges 200 yards from the embassy. The demonstrators gave up and marched off after truncheon-wielding police reinforcements rushed in.

Officers counted one casualty among their ranks but made no arrests in the three-day demonstration in three days protesting Mikoyan's arrival Monday. He is to open a Soviet trade fair.

Police appeared determined to prevent a repetition of the mob law which blocked former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's visit to Japan last year. But the right-wingers appeared equally determined to even the score. Demonstrators protected by bright green, blue and yellow steel helmets waved placards saying "Red devil stay home" and "Let Kamikaze World War II suicide pilots expel him."

The protest appeared to reflect mounting opposition to the Soviet leader's visit. Government officials and the Japanese press have expressed concern that the scope of the anti-Communist demonstrations may build up in coming days.

Pilot Escapes In Jet Crash

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—An Air Force pilot escaped injury today when his F-100 jet crashed shortly after take-off from England Air Force Base in Alexandria.

Capt. Vernon E. Frank stayed with his burning craft long enough to divert it from a farm house. The jet crashed into a clump of trees at the rear of the farm and exploded.

The explosion blew a piece of the plane over the house. The family of Russell J. Pafford was in the house at the time but no one was injured and no damage was reported to the house.

Capt. Frank parachuted to the ground and was picked up by a helicopter.

2 Candidates For Judge Are Rumored

Louisiana Jurists On U.S. Bench May Be Decided

WASHINGTON (Special) — Reliable sources in Washington said Friday the choice for two new western Louisiana federal district judges has been narrowed down to the Richard Putnam of Abbeville and R. Hunter Pierson of Alexandria.

Both attorneys were among those named in a list of six men submitted to the administration by Sens. Allen J. Ellender and Russell B. Long shortly after the Congress approved an omnibus judgeship bill last May.

Only a handful of the judgeships have been filled by the Kennedy administration, but indications now are that the Louisiana nominations will be made within a few weeks.

POSSIBLE PRESSURE

While speculation has been rife that Kennedy has been holding off nominations to use them as leverage for passage of his new frontier legislation, both Louisiana Senators deny they have been subjected to any pressure of this type.

It is known that the FBI has been making unusually careful background investigations on each person suggested for a major post.

This intensive check-up work was ordered after the President was forced to withdraw the nomination of Frank Reeves to be commissioner of the District of Columbia, after a Senate committee discovered that Reeves was in trouble with the Internal Revenue Bureau and had been involved in questionable practices in financing his purchase of an expensive house.

The other nominees for the western district posts were Lesley P. Gardner of Opelousas, Leonard L. Lockard of Shreveport, E. M. Nichols of Lake Charles, and Charles A. Riddle Jr. of Marksville.

In the eastern district two judgeships are also open. Gordon West of Baton Rouge has one of them. Robert A. Ainsworth of New Orleans was reportedly leading the race for the other post.

Heat Fells Opera Star On Stage

VENICE (AP)—Soprano Anna Moffo, comely young Metropolitan Opera star, was felled by 100 degrees heat Friday night on stage at Venice's La Fenice Opera House while singing the Violetta role in the second act of Verdi's "La Traviata."

After backstage treatment, she quickly recovered and returned to the stage amid an ovation from the elite audience. The opera was resumed after a half-hour lapse.

At the end of the second act the Philadelphia-born singer told friends: "I just faint. I don't know how it happened. Now I feel all right."

Miss Moffo made her American debut in 1957 in Chicago after studying several years in Italy and made her Met debut in New York two years ago.

Midway of the second act of "La Traviata," she slipped out of the arms of baritone Robert Merrill.

Junta Coup Claim Denied In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP)—A military junta, apparently leftist, claimed President Arturo Frondizi was overthrown Friday night, but a government spokesman declared early Saturday the revolt was only a "crazy" action.

The government spokesman said a small group captured the main telephone station through which most transmission lines pass and were able to broadcast their proclamations of revolution over chains of private and government radio stations.

After the broadcasting of the revolutionary manifesto official radio stations resumed normal transmission of taped recordings. Reports at the Defense Ministry said no military action had been reported anywhere in the interior.

Four Are Trapped, Drown In Drainpipe

NEW YORK (AP)—A construction foreman and his son, brother and cousin were trapped and drowned Friday by a blast of murky sewer water that shoved them from the bottom of a Brooklyn excavation deep into a huge drainpipe.

Two of the men died after leaping into the open pit in vain attempts to save their relatives. A fifth relative, son of the foreman's brother, also leaped into the excavation when he saw the others being washed into the pipe. He was overcome by sewer gas and had to be pulled from the 12-foot pit.

Police said high tide sent a sudden gush of water into the excavation from Coney Island Creek nearby in the Gravesend section of the borough. Pushed ahead of the tide water was highly poisonous sewage gas.

The two men in the pit were overcome by the gas. They fell into the waist-deep water which carried them into the underground drainage line.

The other three leaped into the new drainage pipe in the area,

Army Plans Troops Hike For Europe

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Army Secretary Elvis J. Stahr Jr. said Friday night the Army will send 3,000 additional troops to Europe in the immediate future, and is training even more men for shipment later.

Stahr made the announcement in branding as "completely without foundation" an unofficial military journal's report that Gen. Lauris Norstad, supreme allied commander in Europe, had been rebuffed by the Pentagon in his request for 38,000 additional troops.

The Army secretary failed to say, however, whether Norstad would get the full number of additional troops he asked.

The report that Norstad's request had been rejected was carried by the Army-Navy-Air Force Journal, an unofficial but authoritative publication. It said the administration had decided to restrict the buildup of U.S. forces in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) to between 3,000 and 4,000 soldiers.

The Pentagon had declined comment on the article earlier. But this evening Stahr said in a statement: "This report is completely without foundation." He added: "The secretary of defense and I are in complete accord with our commanders in Europe on the size and timing of the buildup and actions that are under way to carry out the plans in timely fashion."

He referred to President Kennedy's emergency military plans for meeting threats to Berlin and other Western outposts.

Stahr said that in addition to sending the 3,000 new troops to Norstad's command, the remaining soldiers required to meet the needs in that theater "are being trained in specific tasks" for shipment later.

Senator Soaper Says

Politicians are widely criticized for not keeping all their promises. And those they do keep seem always to be the most expensive ones.

The news from Bizerte is being reported in depth, except for any word as to whether dirty Gertie is still there.

Researchers at Johns Hopkins University have succeeded in synthesizing luciferin, which is what makes fireflies glow. Now that man has this valuable stuff, will he wear it in the same place the firefly does?

One consolation about the administration's all-out drive for 15 minutes of calisthenics for everybody every day is that apparently we don't have to begin it for a couple of months.

JKF SCHOOL BILL DOOMED

Aid To Impacted Areas Approved

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate committee Friday rammed through swift approval of a bill to continue aid to school districts where federal activities have boomed.

The move symbolized the death of administration hopes for any general aid-to-education legislation at this session of Congress.

Dispensing with hearings, the Senate Labor and Welfare Committee voted 11-1 for a measure, introduced Thursday, to extend for one year the impacted areas program which has been costing about $312 million a year.

PASSAGE LIKELY

In contrast to the bitter opposition to general aid, this legislation is expected to sail through virtually unopposed. The reason is that this aid—which is for teachers' salaries as well as classroom construction—goes to schools in the home districts of 315 representatives and the states of 99 senators.

The program expired June 30 and to hasten its revival the Senate bill is to be sent to the House and acted on there under a suspension of the rules. This means it would go to no committees.

Sen. Jacob Javits, R-N.Y., cast Friday's lone vote against the impacted areas bill. He explained this was not because he opposes this aid but to emphasize his belief "that the administration leadership on federal aid to education has collapsed and is now yielding its whole position for this session of Congress by accepting a separate bill for impacted areas."

Up until a few days ago, aid to school districts where federal activities have boomed.

The foreign ministers have the power to hasten the Senate's action by breaking off diplomatic relations to armed intervention. It is reliably reported that officials of the nations involved are considering an embargo on all trade with Cuba, except for those imports necessary for the survival of the island people.

The thinking is that the OAS members, especially the United States, could make use of their influence with other nations to make the embargo so effective that Fidel Castro would have no one to deal with but the Communist nations.

"They are unable now to meet half of Cuba's needs," one comment went.

Cloudy, Warm Predicted Today

You couldn't write a book about the local weather performance—no unless it was a one-chapter effort, and a short chapter at that.

The forecast for today runs in the same narrow channel as it has for the past several weeks. Partly cloudy skies and isolated afternoon thundershowers are predicted.

The high is expected to be between 86 and 92 degrees and the low tonight will be about 70. Yesterday's high was recorded at 91 at mid-afternoon and the overnight low was 70 degrees.

Gibbs Casts Vote; Others Not Decided

Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, already aligned in opposition to a request from Gov. Jimmie H. Davis to use $700,000 of a $60 million previously approved appropriation bill for construction of a gubernatorial mansion, Friday made it official with the mailing of a negative ballot to the governor.

The other parish solons, Sen. Jamar Adcock and Rep. Mike John Jr., withheld opinions on the matter over the weekend. In a statement to the press made soon after filing his reply to Baton Rouge, Gibbs stressed a feeling that the state needed many things before "we go off building mansions."

He also pointed to what he called Louisiana's "multi-million dollar deficit."

Ballots were sent Thursday to all members of the Legislature under the seal of State Comptroller Roy L. Theriot for their votes on the matter. Replies were directed to the Governor.

Included on the ballot among eight other items requesting funds for various state operations and construction at several state institutions was the $700,000 request for only about $1.8 million of the original $60 million voted early in the last legislative session was included.

Of the $60 million, $25 million

Postmaster Says Facilities Adequate

Speaking to "clear the air" and "settle the confusion" over the issue of a new West Monroe post office or federal building, West Monroe Postmaster Homer B. Roark Friday made his first public statement on the matter.

In line with a recent postal survey on local service and facilities, conducted through Washington D. C. under authorization of Assistant Postmaster General Frederick C. Belan, Roark called the West Monroe building "adequate."

In doing so, however, he expressed gratitude to those civic-minded citizens who were "interested in the postal service in our community."

Here is the text of the postmaster's statement: "The present post office building was re-modeled in 1953 and

Long-Range Lending Plan Foes Beaten

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy's foreign aid program survived a major hazard Friday night when the Senate rejected a move to deny him long-range authority to lend funds borrowed from the Treasury.

An amendment which would have forced annual congressional appropriations for any lending was beaten.

ROLL CALL

The amendment was rejected on a 50-39 roll call, giving the administration a 17-vote margin in contrast to predictions earlier Friday of an edge of only five to seven votes.

Forty-six Democrats and 10 Republicans supported the President while 16 Democrats joined 23 Republicans in opposition to his plan.

Approval of the amendment would have destroyed the long-range lending and Treasury-borrowing principles which the administration feels are vital to the over-all success of its program.

While preservation of these principles constituted a major victory for the administration, it did not insure that the chief executive will get the full, five-year $8.8-billion lending program he has asked.

Efforts to trim both the duration of and funds for the loan program are expected before the measure comes to a final vote for the Senate. After that, it must

Korea Vote Pledged On Rule In '63

SEOUL, UPI)—The Leader of South Korea's military junta, Lt. Gen. Park Chung Hee, announced today that he would call general elections in May 1963 and return the government to civilian control "in the summer of 1963."

The grim-faced little general, speaking at a news conference, said a new constitution would be promulgated in March 1963.

REVERSION DUE

The new government will be a reversion to the presidential system similar to the one under ex-President Syngman Rhee. The government was changed to a premier-president system after Rhee's overthrow in April 1960.

Park said in a statement read at the news conference that "prior to the turnover of the government to civilian control the revolutionary government will accomplish at least the following basic tasks in order to create a strong democratic political order and to prevent relapse of vice."

The tasks that Park listed were to "eradicate all political and social vice," enhance the new spirit and establish the dignity of law.

Reform and develop all institutions to an extent that they will be set in the right direction. He also said the national economy must be rebuilt and the first year program of the five-year overall economic plan must be "positively carried out."

He said the turnover of government to civilian control was planned for the summer of 1963 because the year of 1962 would be a period of reform.

OAS May Halt Trade With Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The Central American republics will ask next week for a foreign ministers' meeting in September to consider sanctions against Cuba, it was reported Friday.

A reliable source, who declined to be identified, said a petition for the foreign ministers' meeting will be introduced at the inter-American conference of finance ministers now under way in Punta del Este, Uruguay.

The case against Cuba, as set forth in the petition, will be considered by the council of the Organization of American States which comprises 21 members, including Cuba. # Korea Vote Pledged On Rule In '63

SEOUL, UPI — The Leader of South Korea's military junta, Lt. Gen. Park Chung Hee, announced today that he would call general elections in May 1963 and return the government to civilian control "in the summer of 1963."

The grim-faced little general, speaking at a news conference, said a new constitution would be promulgated in March 1963.

REVERSION DUE

The new government will be a reversion to the presidential system similar to the one under ex-President Syngman Rhee. The government was changed to premier-president system after Rhee's overthrow in April 1960.

Park said in a statement read at the news conference that "prior to the turnover of the government to civilian control the revolutionary government will accomplish at least the following basic tasks in order to create a strong democratic political order and to prevent relapse of vice."

The tasks that Park listed were to "eradicate all political and social vice," enhance the new spirit and establish the dignity of law.

Reform and develop all institutions to an extent that they will be set in the right direction. He also said the national economy must be rebuilt and the first year program of the five-year overall economic plan must be "positively carried out."

He said the turnover of government to civilian control was planned for the summer of 1963 because the year of 1962 would be a period of reform.

board of directors to call the shots.

Membership will be open to any municipality in the south and in other states as may be designated from time to time at the annual meeting of the association.

Four board members, two to serve one year and two to serve two years, will be elected by each of the 10 states at the concluding session Saturday.

The Louisiana Municipal Association's executive board, meeting after the general assembly, selected as board members: Howard Christian, Mayor Clyde Fant, Shreveport, and Mayor Charles Cassidy, LMA president of Bogalusa.

Under the constitution, SAMO dues were established on a population basis. A city the size of Monroe will pay $400 annual dues to help maintain a director and staff to coordinate the organization's program.

Louisiana had the second largest delegation present for the opening day session. Mississippi led with 67. Other state delegations included:

Alabama, 13; Arkansas, 14; Florida, 8; Georgia, 12; Virginia, 3; South Carolina, 17; Texas, 11; and Tennessee, 23.

Adoption of the constitution came as the keynote Calvin Johnson, a former Congressman from New Marlboro, Maryland, addressed the conference.

"The only way to control this wild inflation and liberal programs is through the election and retention in Congress of conservative members who believe in the principals for which this organization stands," Johnson said.

"If we can stop the welfare state trend, the South is in the lap of the gods because of her friendly attitude toward business," he added.

GIVEN WARNING

But Johnson warned the delegates that Russia would maintain efforts to destroy America through a cold war aimed at breaking this country economically.

"I do not expect Russia to get into a war because of the military strength of the United States," he stated.

Joseph Mitchell, city manager of Newburgh, N. Y., will speak at noon Saturday, concluding the two-day conference. The same old board will meet after the general session.

Under the adopted policy, Southern municipalities joining SAMO must pay their dues within 30 days after the conference. A need for operating funds was emphasized.

The board will handle membership and select a director and staff to begin functioning.

Fifth district delegates included Street Commissioner W. D. H. Rodriguez, Finance Commissioner H. W. McSherry, Asst. City Atty. Ford Pipes Jr. and Treasurer Mel Cook, all of Monroe.

Mayor J. Allan Norris, Councilman Dick Jolissant, A. P. Burkett, City Atty. Charles Traylor, all of West Monroe.

Mayor A. P. Carver and Police Chief Ray Sibley, Bastrop; Mayor J. Clyde Williams, Farmerville; Mayor Roy Snider, Delhi; and City Atty. W. A. Cooper, Rayville.

The only woman mayor attending was Mrs. D. C. Allen of Winnfield.

Solons Okay New Cabinet Agency Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to create a new Cabinet secretary was approved Friday by the Senate Government Operations Committee.

The bill, requested by President Kennedy, would establish a Department of Urban Affairs and Housing. Actually the effect would be to elevate the present Housing and Home Finance Agency to Cabinet status and give it a new name.

If the bill is approved by Congress, it is generally expected that Robert C. Weaver, housing administrator, will be named to head the new department. Weaver thus would become the first Negro Cabinet member.

The tenth and latest new agency to attain Cabinet status was the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. This was created in 1953 under a reorganization plan submitted by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Chief objection to the proposed new Department of Urban Affairs and Housing was that it might benefit only the big cities. The committee revised the bill sharply with a view to emphasizing that small towns and communities would share in whatever programs and aid are administered under the new setup.

Long-Range Lending Plan Foes Beaten

clear the House where opposition may be stronger than in the Senate.

The Senate vote came after seven hours of debate in which the lending program was condemned as dangerous fiscal and political folly and defended as an inescapable responsibility.

An administration spokesman apparently picked up some wavering Republican votes in late afternoon by indicating he would support an amendment under which congressional committees would be given a 30-day advance look at any proposed loans of $10 million or more.

No veto power would be provided but the committees could register dissent and exercise pressure on the administration if they opposed a loan.

Sens. Harry F. Byrd, D-Va., and Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., paced the attack on the President's request for authority to lend up to $8.3 billion in the next five years with money largely borrowed from the Treasury with annual appropriations by Congress.

Byrd, a frequent opponent of administration bills, offered the amendment to strike the lending authority from the pending measure to provide $4.3 billion for foreign aid this year. This includes $1.1 billion to start the long-term, low-interest loans to underdeveloped nations.

The Virginia veteran said the program would promote poor risk loans with no certainty of repayment. He said if there were no repayments over the 50-year span which the loans could cover, the compounded interest on the $8.3 billion would run it to $29.7 billion.

"This is no time to relax control over any public spending," he added.

Goldwater, a spokesman for conservative Republicans, said if the program is adopted "we are tampering very dangerously with the value of the American dollar."

With each side limited to 7 1/2 hours of argument the administration forces let the opposition do most of the early talking, apparently feeling they had the votes to beat the amendment.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Foreign Relations Committee keynoted the proponents' arguments with a declaration that the real question before the Senate "is whether this nation is prepared to accept the permanent and inescapable responsibility of having come of age in history."

In support of the President's claims that only by having a long-range program can this nation help underdeveloped nations to help themselves, Fulbright said: "The purpose of foreign aid, and indeed of foreign policy as a whole, is the very gradual improvement of human life on earth. Our success is not guaranteed and, if our efforts are to be coherent and sustained, we must accept this fact with sobriety and serenity."

Goldwater argued that if he were Soviet Premier Khrushchev he would be content to see the United States "keep spending money which it does not have" in the hope it would eventually bankrupt this country.

The opponents bared down hard also on the provision that the loans would be made without annual congressional appropriations and through Treasury borrowing which Byrd and others referred to as "backdoor financing."

Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, said Congress "should not abdicate its power to supervise and control this program." Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa, called it "uninhibited borrowing authority."

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., joined Goldwater in disputing claims of proponents that Congress could, in any future year, effectively limit loan authority. They argued that once the International Cooperation Administration makes loan commitments Congress could not renege.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., defending the Kennedy proposal, said that what its opponents want is "control by the appropriations committees" instead of control by Congress itself.

He said under the present procedure the appropriations committees exert an unusual power in forcing money cuts below what Congress authorizes for the program.

He said Congress authorized $1.1 billion for the last fiscal year, but the appropriations committees approved only $550 million, "cutting the authority in half."

Under the Kennedy program, starting with the next fiscal year, the lending program would be supported by up to $1.6 billion in annual Treasury borrowings, supplemented by $300 million in money repaid on overseas loans already outstanding.

The loans, repayable in dollars, would be made at low interest rates and, in some cases, might wonderful improvement in postal facilities in West Monroe during the past few years.

"I am grateful for those of our citizens who are civic-minded and interested in the postal service in our community. It is the desire of the West Monroe Post Office to provide the best postal service possible to our customers, consistent with economy."

Roark explained the "new leasing and construction program" referred to as being nearly 20 year old policy of the Post Office Department not to erect its own buildings.

"There have been no federal buildings exclusively for post office use erected exclusively for post office use in about 20 years," he said.

Sometimes, however, though not frequently, federal buildings will be found to house postal facilities to a lesser degree along with other primary governmental agencies.

Roark explained Post Office preference for leasing in lieu of buying as a desire to "put the money back into the local economy." This, he said, would not be the case with a government-owned structure.

of the country.

Despite the call of the rebels for a public mass meeting to celebrate overthrow of the government, only a few people showed up at the Plaza Italia, 3.5 miles from the Presidential Palace.

A manifesto, broadcast on private radio stations, and also on a government station a few miles north of the capital, declared the junta was carrying out a "profound revolution" aimed at freeing the country from its "subordination to powerful economic interests" and to carry out the "widest reforms."

The manifesto said reports of support had been received from the air base at Reconquista, and military bases at Cordoba and Parana, and San Luis y Tandil, 100 miles northwest of Mar del Plata, a resort near Buenos Aires. Cordoba is the industrial heart of Argentina.

The announcement said these developments showed a perfect synchronization of the "movement of the national moralizing revolution."

"The movement of national revolution will not stop," it declared.

reportedly was earmarked exclusively for L.S.U. and $25 million for the rest of the state school system.

The nine requests were the result of a meeting of the State Bond and Building Commission held August 8. Davis is chairman of the seven member commission.

Gibbs did not announce his vote on the eight measures aside from the mansion. Regarding the million dollar mansion proposal, however, he said:

"I have just mailed my ballot to Baton Rouge concerning the governor's mansion and marked my ballot against this item. I feel that there are many other worthy projects we could spend the $700,000 for."

"We are in need of facilities to benefit our retarded children, build much needed roads, enlarge our charity hospitals and mental institutions. I don't feel that this expenditure is timely in face of a multi-million dollar deficit."

The bond issue was intended to help the people of our state and we should take care of our sick, halt and blind, and try to better educate our children for a better world before we go off and build mansions."

The other two parish representatives reserved their opinion temporarily at least over the weekend.

Sen. Jamar Adcock indicated that he had an appointment in Baton Rouge on Monday and might deliver his vote at that time, if he did not reach a decision Saturday or Sunday.

He promised an immediate statement on marking his ballot but had "no other comment for the time being."

Rep. John said Friday that he had just received his ballot and would "continue to give every thoughtful consideration that I can in line with my previous statement."

Asked when he would cast his vote, he replied that "I want to talk to the people in the parish and see how they feel about it."

"I've been able to do that most of today (Friday) and I expect to do so over the weekend."

Post Office In Area Will Be Dedicated

FARMERVILLE (Special) — Farmerville's new post office will be dedicated at 3 p.m. Sunday.

The post office, located at the corner of Franklin and Washington streets, "is a part of the Post Office Department's unique commercial leasing plan," Trellis Black, postmaster, said.

Preceding dedication ceremonies, a parade through the downtown area by the American Legion Color Guard, Farmerville High School Band, Fire Department and the Cub Scouts will be held.

Dedication ceremonies will be held in front of the post office with a concert by the Farmerville band.

Principal address will be given by Thomas Courtney Jr., real estate officer for the Dallas region of the Post Office Department.

The program will be concluded by a flag ceremony by the American Legion using a 50-star American flag which has flown over the Nation's Capital Building and the Federal Post Office Building, Washington, D. C.

The flag was obtained by Rep. Otto E. Passman.

The program was planned by a committee representing civic and service organizations of Farmerville.

They are J. C. Williams, mayor and Town Council; Lamar Adkins, Fire Department; Russell Adams, American Legion; Clara Taylor, Jaycee; Jaynes; Mrs. Woodrow Downs, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Paul Read, Farmerville Garden Club; Carlton White, Jaycees; Raymond Masing, Farmerville Lions Club; Mrs. James T. Spencer, Book Club; W. C. McMurrian, FIDC and Trellis Black and Mrs. Lodine Gresham, Farmerville Post Office.

Woodrow Downs acted as chairman of the committee and will serve as master of ceremonies.

Traffic control will be under the direction of town marshal Carl Miller and the members of Boy Scout Troop 16.

Aid To Impacted Areas Approved

ministration forces had hoped to salvage some part of $6.1 billion in general and special aid measures now shelved in the House Rules Committee, snagged on the issue of aid for parochial schools.

The intended strategy had been to use the almost universal desire for aid to parochial schools as a lever to pry something else out for action. But it became obvious Thursday the administration forces had given up when the separate impacted areas bill was introduced by Sens. Lister Hill, D-Ala., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore. Both staunch advocates of general aid.

A single 8-7 vote in the Rules Committee bottled up these three major bills approved by the House Labor and Education Committee.

The Senate-passed $1.8-billion program for general aid, including teachers' pay at the states' option, and aid for impacted areas. This would not extend aid to church or other private schools. The $1.8-billion bill extending the Defense Education Act. This would allow loans to parochial schools for classroom construction.

The $1.8-billion general college aid bill.

After Friday's Senate committee action, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., disclosed he had sought to make the extension for three years instead of one but lost, 10-2. Such an extension would have robbed Democrats of an effective weapon in their renewal of efforts next year for general aid legislation.

Mother Will Risk Aid Loss For Pool

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A divorced mother with 10 children said Friday she will accept the $4,000 swimming pool she won on a television show—even if it means losing aid from the Ramsey County Welfare Department.

"The children have their heart set on the pool," said Elna Sawicki. "If the welfare department discontinues their help, I'll go to work."

"I've worked before and I can do it again," added Mrs. Sawicki, who has one child in a state hospital and nine, aged 1 1/2 to 17, at home.

Mrs. Sawicki won the pool and other gifts on an ABC-TV show—"Queen for a Day" in Minneapolis last month.

Ruth Bowman, county welfare director, said, "It appears unlikely that Mrs. Sawicki will be able to accept the pool and continue to receive public assistance."

Mrs. Sawicki feels the welfare department is being unreasonable in its stand. She maintains the pool does not change the fact her children must be supported.

The welfare department says it is not as concerned with the pool

"The bond issue was intended to help the people of our state and we should take care of our sick, halt and blind, and try to better educate our children for a better world before we go off and build mansions."

The other two parish representatives reserved their opinion temporarily at least over the weekend.

Sen. Jamar Adcock indicated that he had an appointment in Baton Rouge on Monday and might deliver his vote at that time, if he did not reach a decision Saturday or Sunday.

He promised an immediate statement on marking his ballot but had "no other comment for the time being."

Rep. John said Friday that he had just received his ballot and would "continue to give every thoughtful consideration that I can in line with my previous statement."

Asked when he would cast his vote, he replied that "I want to talk to the people in the parish and see how they feel about it."

"I've been able to do that most of today (Friday) and I expect to do so over the weekend."

Aid To Impacted Areas Approved

administration forces had hoped to salvage some part of $6.1 billion in general and special aid measures now shelved in the House Rules Committee, snagged on the issue of aid for parochial schools.

The intended strategy had been to use the almost universal desire for the impacted areas aid as a lever to pry something else out of action. But it became obvious Thursday the administration forces had given up when the separate impacted areas bill was introduced by Sens. Lister Hill, D-Ala., and Wayne Morse, D-Ore., both staunch advocates of general aid.

A single 8-7 vote in the Rules Committee bottled up these three major bills approved by the House Labor and Education Committee.

The Senate-passed $2.5-billion program for general aid, including teachers' pay at the states' option, and aid for impacted areas. This would not extend aid to church or other private schools.

The $1.8-billion bill extending the Defense Education Act. This would allow loans to parochial schools for classroom construction.

The $1.8-billion general college aid bill.

After Friday's Senate committee action, Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., disclosed he had sought to make the extension for three years instead of one but lost, 10-2. Such an extension would have robbed Democrats of an effective weapon in their renewal of efforts next year for general aid legislation.

MAKES DECISION

Mother Will Risk Aid Loss For Pool

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—A divorced mother with 10 children said Friday she will accept the $4,000 swimming pool she won on a television show—even if it means losing aid from the Ramsey County Welfare Department.

"The children have their heart set on the pool," said Elna Sawicki. "If the welfare department discontinues their help, I'll go to work."

"I've worked before and I can do it again," added Mrs. Sawicki, who has one child in a state hospital and nine, aged 1 1/2 to 17, at home.

Mrs. Sawicki won the pool and other gifts on an ABC-TV show—"Queen for a Day" in Minneapolis last month.

Ruth Bowman, county welfare director, said, "It appears unlikely that Mrs. Sawicki will be able to accept the pool and continue to receive public assistance."

Mrs. Sawicki feels the welfare department is being unreasonable in its stand. She maintains the pool does not change the fact her children must be supported.

The welfare department says it is not as concerned with the pool

Passman's Aid Fight Is Cited By Newspapers

(Editor's Note: The article presented here, dealing with the fight of Louisiana Congressman Otto E. Passman to curb excessive foreign aid spending and block the Administration's plan of "backdoor spending" for the program, is from a current issue of The Washington Daily News. It was written by George F. Howard, Staff Writer Charles Lacey for publication in The Daily News and other service-oriented newspapers throughout the nation.)

"Otto Ernest Passman is a tall, intense man who today devotes the same copious verbiage and evangelistic zeal to fighting big foreign-aid spending under John Kennedy as under Dwight Eisenhower."

"As chairman of the House Appropriations Subcommittee on foreign aid, the 61-year-old Louisiana Congressman is in a key position to do that fighting. Day in and day out he grills Administration witnesses on waste and error in overseas programs. He can reel off examples of same by the dozens. o o o o o o o o o dozen."

"Political medicine men is what he called Eisenhower people who marched before his committee to plead for big foreign aid spending. He calls much of the pleading of Kennedy's men in the same field 'poppycock'."

"Rep. Passman boasts that in the first six years that he headed the House Foreign Aid inquiry his subcommittee carved down requests by $4.5 billion. Each time, he says, the executive claimed the program has been ruined — 'yet each year after we made these cuts history proved we gave them more money than they could obligate, reserve or use.'"

"The program is so diversified, flexible and world wide it is a physical impossibility for any administration to administer it prudently and intelligently."

"I like John Kennedy," Rep. Passman says — and goes on fighting him."

"Rep. Passman recalls that when foreign aid began in 1947 — its cost $106 billion, interest included, since then — Congress insisted the program be authorized one year at a time. He holds this did not limit planning for advance years, but only the funding. But now he contends it's out of control, touching or planning to touch 97 of the 110 nations of the world. He says the long-range, five-year plan of so-called backdoor financing thru Treasury loans would take it almost wholly away from Congress."

"There's one section of the U. S. Constitution which Rep. Passman can find blindfolded. It's Article 1, Section 9. It reads:

"No money shall be drawn from the Treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law."

"To Rep. Passman this means yearly appropriations scrutinized by the committees of Senate and House — and not funds provided by a broad grant of borrowing from the Treasury — the so-called backdoor financing."

"The foreign aid bill now being debated in the Senate is an authorization bill. A similar bill in the House will go to the floor as the product of the House Foreign Affairs Committee — not Rep. Passman's subcommittee on appropriations. But he's fighting the change to long-range financing with everything he's got. Inevitably, his subcommittee would have less range to examine foreign aid programs if it is adopted."

Negro Is Fined In Battery Case

James P. Wood, Negro of 201 Haynes St., West Monroe, was fined $100 for aggravated battery in West Monroe city court yesterday.

During light action, two forfeited bonds for reckless driving, one for speeding, two for failing to stop at a stop sign, two for no driver's license, five for running a red light and three for leaving the motor running in their vehicle while unattended.

Priest Defends North Louisiana

ALEXANDRIA (Special) — A man who gave up a fortune to become a Catholic priest Friday took issue with the New York Herald-Tribune for saying that north Louisiana is one of the most impoverished areas in the nation.

Rev. J. Cavanaugh, who before his decision to become a priest was chief of a hat manufacturing firm, arrived in Alexandria to assume his official duties.

Interviewed shortly after saying his first mass in St. Francis Xavier Cathedral, the 33-year-old churchman blasted the newspaper for "sensationalizing" in a story on his decision to enter the priesthood last March.

Cavanaugh called some of the statements in the article "absurd" and said the Herald-Tribune should correct its statement that North Louisiana is one of the most impoverished sections of the nation.

Cavanaugh, former head of the giant Cavanaugh division of the Hat Corp. of America, said his transition to the priesthood has been "the most wonderful thing that ever happened to me."

He said he is looking forward to a conference with Bishop Charles P. Greco, of the Diocese of Alexandria, at which time a decision on his assignment may be announced.

Father Cavanaugh could be assigned to any church in the diocese which covers all of north Louisiana and extends into Avoyelles Parish to the south.

Cavanaugh began the trip to Alexandria by car, but switched to air travel when his auto broke down in Charlotte, N.C.

He was met at Esler Field this morning by Father G. M. Foley, pastor of St. Francis Xavier.

His arrival was without fanfare. Only an altar boy, a reporter, a woman and two nuns witnessed his first mass this morning.

"People tell me what a wonderful thing I did," Father Cavanaugh said.

"Well, I am the one who benefited. This is the greatest thing that ever happened to me. I couldn't be happier."

Cavanaugh, a World War II hero, who was decorated three times for valor, was stationed near Alexandria for a while during the war and said he was familiar with north and central Louisiana and that he knew the Herald-Tribune description of the area was "absurd."

State Group Plans Anti-Red Program

Monroe representatives will meet with the Association of Louisiana Chambers of Commerce in Baton Rouge Thursday to launch a state-wide anti-communist, anti-socialist program.

It will be based on the Freedom Forums and Americanism programs, begun in Monroe earlier this year.

"The basic plan of action developed by the local Chamber of Commerce will be the prototype in developing the state-wide project," said W. E. Whetstone, area vice-chairman of the Fifth Congressional District for the ALCC.

Garland Shell, C of C president. Whetstone, Jim Williams, C of C general manager and Bob Oden, assistant manager, will represent Monroe at the meeting.

It will be held in the Capital House hotel, starting at 10 a.m.

COORDINATOR
Whetstone, who is chairman of the Monroe Minute Man brigade, will coordinate the program in a number of northeast Louisiana communities.

The format will closely approach the old-fashioned "town hall" meeting method. Entire communities will be furnished with special programs at central locations.

Schedules will be announced in advance.

Calude B. Duval of Houma, president of the ALCC, will preside over the meeting Thursday. The state-wide program will include Freedom Forums and diversified Americanism projects, which show that free enterprise and democracy is superior to communism and socialism.

On June 29, a subcommittee of the ALCC, headed by Whetstone, met in Monroe to draft the Americanism program for Louisiana.

They listed 44 primary goals of communists, in their blueprint for world domination.

These Red strategy goals include U. S. acceptance of co-existence as the only alternative to atomic war. U. S. willingness to surrender rather than fight, and the belief that U. S. disarmament would be a demonstration of moral strength.

Rodeo Coming In West Monroe September 1-4

The rodeo is coming to West Monroe, September 1-4, sponsored jointly by the West Monroe Riding Club and the Northeast Louisiana Shrine Club.

"We expect this to be the biggest rodeo ever produced in West Monroe," S. G. Nolan, president of the city riding club said Friday. Facilities at the riding club arena he added have been considerably improved and expanded to accommodate expected crowds.

Opening Friday night, September 1, after a downtown parade at 2 p.m., the show will run for four nights and close after the Labor Day performance, September 4. Shows will be at 8 p.m.

Parade marshal Bobby Albritton has announced route of the procession after moving out of the Eureka parking lot on Commerce Street in West Monroe as down Trenton Street, over the new traffic bridge to Walnut, and up De Siard to Sixth Street in Monroe.

Last year's producer Ralph Collier will also produce this year's show. Tom Hadley will return as announcer.

Jet Pilot Not Hurt In Crash In Alex Area
ALEXANDRIA (Special) — Capt. Vernon E. Frank pilot of a F-100 Super Sabre jet, escaped injury Friday when his plane crashed at Rapides Station about 10 miles north of Alexandria.

Frank is with the 612 Tactical Fighter Squadron at England AFB.

He received a minor scratch when he ejected from his crippled ship.

The Air Force said it is investigating to determine cause of the accident.

The jet clipped off several trees and skipped along the ground before coming to rest in front of the Russell Pafford home on La. Highway 1.

One piece of the plane flew over the home and lodged in a tree behind the house.

A calf was blown over a fence and badly burned by the explosion. Witnesses said they saw two possums running away from the scene.

Peasant-Style Farming

Although the onerous omnibus farm bill proposed by the secretary of agriculture and the Kennedy administration was cleaned of most of its objectionable features before winning approval, it is interesting to note the similarity of the original measure and of a farm control proposal made by the Communist Party, U.S.A. In fact, it appears as if President Kennedy and the secretary of agriculture might have gone to the Communist party for their ideas on this subject.

The New Frontier insisted on having a clause in the legislation pointing the whole bill toward the development of the so-called "family-sized" farm, which Secretary Freeman had described as one and a half man-years of labor. Instead of demanding a one-horse farm, Secretary Freeman wanted a one and one-half man farm. This, of course would have meant what one man could do, plus what little work he could get out of his children or compel his wife to do, as the agricultural administration sought to act in restraint of hiring any work done.

It provided that price supports would apply only to the family-type farm, at the discretion of the secretary of agriculture, of course, since he was to be made dictator and overseer of all farming operations and the marketing of farm crops as well.

The interest of the New Frontier in limiting benefits to the small and often inefficient grower is interesting in the light of a proposal made to congress on behalf of the farm commission of the Communist Party of the U.S.A., before the house agriculture committee in October 1947.

This statement said: "Market prices should be left free to seek their own level, while the smaller farmers should be given compensatory payments to make up the difference between the lower market price and a higher price calculated on the basis of a revised parity formula."

"These compensatory payments should be paid in full to farmers whose annual incomes are $2,500 or less. On farms whose income is over that amount, compensation payments should not exceed a total of $500 in any one year."

It is easy to see that this program would have resulted in peasant-type farming and gross inefficiency. Instead of being a New Frontier, it would have taken us back to the days when farming was primitive, when a man and a mule labored from daylight till dark to produce a small crop and a small income and when more than half of the people of this nation were engaged in crop production and could hardly produce enough.

It would have put a premium on inefficient farming and a severe penalty on efficient farming. It would have allowed little farmers to produce all they could at a higher price than the efficient farmers received for producing the remainder of what was necessary. It would have ruined our farming efficiency, which now makes it possible for 10 to 15 per cent of the population to produce all the food and clothing necessary for the entire nation.

Absolute abandonment of farm controls and farm supports would be preferable to such a program as that, as it would allow the efficient farmers to stay in business and would weed out those who were inefficient.

Production and marketing controls proposed under the Freeman-Kennedy bill would have made virtual peons or share-croppers out of the farmers, with the government in complete control. Even that might not have destroyed our efficiency completely, but the payment of subsidies to the farmers not capable of making an income of $2,500 and the denial of such subsidies to those who could earn more than that amount would have done a complete job of annihilating our efficiency.

Under the proposed plan, our farm production would have been about on a par with that of Russia, which cannot produce enough food for its own people, while we have vast surpluses.

It is interesting to ponder how much of the communist program President Kennedy adopts unknowingly and how much he adopts knowingly.

White Sees Light

Byron R. White, deputy attorney general in charge of civil rights enforcement, who earned the nickname "Whizzer" by his prowess at football, must have received new instructions from the Kennedy brothers, President John F. and Attorney General Robert. In view of his former actions, he made a startling statement upholding states' rights.

Through White, the justice department denied a request by the Congress on Racial Equality to provide United States marshals for protection of "freedom riders" returning to Jackson, Miss., for court appearances next week.

White made the denial in a letter to James Farmer, national director of C.O.R.E.

Farmer had requested federal protection for about 150 persons who were arrested in Jackson for challenging Mississippi's segregation laws. The defendants were instructed to return to the city for setting of trial dates.

Attack Upon Patients

A bill now before congress, sponsored chiefly by Senator Estes Kefauver, D-Tenn., a perennial investigator of American business, is aimed at the American patent system.

Under its terms, it is true, only the prescription drug industry would be immediately affected, but a precedent would be established which could be extended to all industries.

Existing patent laws give the inventor of a new product exclusive rights to make an sell that product for 17 years. The inventor may license others to make and sell it but this is not obligatory. The proposed law would restrict patent protection on new drugs to three years. Thereafter, the inventor would have to grant a license to any "qualified manufacturer" who wanted to make and market it or would lose his patent. Kefauver claims no inventor of medicine has the right to withhold his product from the public and also argues that drug firms spend only about six per cent of their income for research. Foes of the bill say it would virtually put an end to research by drug firms.

Skeptical Peace Proposal

Russia's Absolute Confidence It Will Take Us Over Eventually May Be Helpful To United States

We do not often enough count our advantages in the Cold War, or even recognize them. One of them is that the Russian Communists are so "certain" of eventually taking over the world that their overconfidence could be helpful to us. A second advantage is that Russian satellite states are a source of constant annoyance to the Kremlin. Ways of improving conditions in such a satellite as East Germany are subjects for negotiation.

These two trump cards for our side offer, I would think, some feasibility to a plan previously discussed here for setting up a Russo - American scientific research center in East Germany. The Russians no longer fear comparison in scientific achievements. There are signs that they would welcome the plan.

The Russians have a real problem child in East Germany with its mass migration to the West, as well as food and labor shortages. Luckily, in one sense, East Germany is a pawn which goes where Khrushchev moves it, up to a point. While the USA could not possibly tell the West German Federated Republic what to do, Khrushchev can largely tell East Germany.

The subject of Soviet - American joint scientific projects was quite hot in 1959-60, but has temporarily cooled off under the Kennedy Administration. I think the facts are worth reviewing as they were significantly called to my attention by an important Democrat with special competency in the atomic energy field. On September 15, 1959, Atomic Energy Commissioner John McCone and Soviet atomic energy head V. S. Emelyanov jointly stated that they were meeting to discuss ways of releasing unclassified information about atomic development. They named three specific areas for discussion: Production of electricity, basic research in the life sciences, and the field of high energy physics.

Later in 1959, on November 20th, Mr. McCone and Prof. Emelyanov held a joint press conference in which two salient points came out.

(1) Both the USA and the USSR increasingly need to find some way to dispose of noxious atomic wastes. I have seen these fuming poisons running down the gutters of an atomic development plant and have seen where the wastes are buried in the Idaho desert. Prof. Emelyanov admitted for his country that "unfortunately there is no place to dump them. . . . We store them all." Mr. McCone said "both countries are following the same course. . . . Without doubt, and without politics, this is a come-together point for the two countries."

(2) Both the USA and USSR could save huge amounts of money and scientific man - hours, without any prejudice to military secrets, by getting together on the latest form of atom - smasher, called (for short) an accelerator. Here is what the two atomic chiefs said:

Emelyanov: "We could, for example, perhaps, develop together a new type of accelerator of some new design and large energy. A large accelerator of such type would, of course, cost a great deal of money. For example, the 50 BEV (billion electron volts) which we have started to build in the Soviet Union is going to cost about one billion rubles. And I believe that the large linear accelerator . . . to be built in this country, about 45 BEV, will cost about $105 million. . . . If we build a large installation of this sort together, it can be done more quickly and more cheaply."

McCone: "We feel (such joint undertakings) are worthy of exploration and study."

Finally, last September, USA and USSR scientists in the high energy physics field held meetings at the University of Rochester and later at the University of California in Berkeley. I am told that these men, about a dozen in all, did not discuss two - country participation, as they were not politically empowered to do so.

But this very large, very deep-going subject is now due for consideration and negotiation as part of what - to - do - about - Berlin. The "package," as related in a previous column, contains proposals to move the UN capital to Berlin, rearm Germany with UN forces, establish a Russo - American scientific center in several East German cities. I hope to write more as the story develops.

WASHINGTON SHORTS

VICE PRESIDENT AND SENATOR - Texas insiders say a feud may be building up between Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson and Senator Ralph Yarborough over Texas patronage. Some Yarborough supporters claim important national posts went to Texans on recommendation of Johnson and without Yarborough even knowing they were in works. Yarborough people say Johnson also insists on visiting Texas appointments within the State; they feel Johnson cut loose from Texas as local affairs when he resigned Senatorship after his squeak through victory as Vice President, and that Yarborough as only Democratic Senator from Texas ought to be dominant voice in purely State appointments. In any dispute that might arise between Vice President and Senator Texas Senator, President Kennedy could be expected to be on Johnson's side.

A second point is that a crash retraining program will produce only minimum results. Armour's pilot project was inaugurated in a crisis atmosphere - six plants had been closed, operations had been slashed in a seventh, 5,000 workers had been displaced, the economy generally was in a recession. Had the training-retraining at Oklahoma City been worked out in a more "normal" atmosphere, there is no question many more workers would have been helped.

A third point - and this is THE BASIC POINT of all - is that no specific program, not even the most grandiose project, can be successful unless the general economy is expanding and thus creating new jobs which workers can fill. This point must never be underestimated.

And a fourth point is that while individual corporations, unions and industries can achieve a lot - and many are now trying - this is a national problem which cries out for solutions at the national level.

New proposals for doing this will be discussed tomorrow.

Kids' Grand Time

Arthur Fiedler's Pops Orchestra Receives Many Encores

The other night, I found myself surrounded by thousands of shouting, yelling, applauding, singing youngsters who were demanding more and more encores by Arthur Fiedler's Boston Pops Orchestra. It was their music, their night, their world. And it was very different.

The most exciting moment was when this magnificent symphony orchestra, somewhat awed, played "Pop's Round-Up." Being an older, I thought what was to come was some kind of melody and I was not disappointed. It was a melody of the theme songs of television shows.

The older folks could not identify the strange music which has little of Beethoven or Brahms. And I fear that some of the older folks looked down their noses at all this excitement, because at a Boston Symphony concert, or any other, one behaves according to protocol. The applause is usual and sufficient. There are no encores.

Not so on this occasion. The kids shouted the name of each theme song; they applauded during the playing; they even sang the songs. They had a grand time and any old man or woman who could not cheer along with his grandchildren should admit that he has had it and retire to such memories as senility endures. An 80 year youngster said that her only complaint was that she could not dance!

Each generation speaks its own language whether it is in speech or music and while it may want to hear what the ancestors had to say, it will reinterpret it. So when Tchaikovsky is done to jazz, it is not, as some say, vulgar stealing. It is rather an idea by another generation which cannot dance to a Strauss waltz but can make its own step, slow, meditative, with a little necking on the dance floor.

Older folks always know what is right and what is wrong and they hate to see the world go to the devil. But somehow that never happens. There have been Caesars and Alexanders and Genghis Khans and Hitlers and then the human race catches its breath and goes about its business in its own fashion.

These young people who come to hear a symphony program end with "The Stars and Stripes Forever," as Fiedler always does, are not as frightened as their parents are. They expect to take chances with life and to laugh at those who, having no daring, resort to petty snobbery as a defense.

Of course, these kids will not become millionaires, as Andrew Carnegie or Al Capone did; they may work in a laboratory for $10,000 a year, saving the human race and enjoying that as they revelled in "Tiger Rag" played as though it had been orchestrated by Ravel.

These kids do not complain about income taxes. They will find a thrill in blowing up a bomb or sitting on a space-ship or skin-diving. Theirs is a different world as their ambitions are different from those of their parents.

And so here I sit, under my maples, looking at a house that may be 200 years old or more, if one believes everything he hears, listening to a radio play Haydn. There are no children on this farm this year. One is building his own world far from mine; another has gone to the wars and is in a distant place where he lives in an entirely different civilization; another is at college during the summer studying economics, a very stupid but essential subject.

And so the world moves on and the oldsters shake their heads and wonder what will come of it all. My father wondered about his ideals of life and seized upon my own. And now I am a grandfather and watch a few thousand kids express themselves in their own way about the things they love. Paladins is no worse than Phil the Fiddler. But you have never heard of Phil the Fiddler! He was a character invented by Horatio Alger with the object of convincing young boys that if they worked hard, spoke truthfully, were loyal to their employer, they would, in the end, marry the boss' daughter and inherit the business.

Today, a young fellow does not want to inherit the business. He wants to know mathematics so that he can work on something that will orbit the Earth or something.

Is this bad?

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U. S. Senator Mr. Holmes Alexander, who is an astute commentator and a knowledgeable observer of the national political scene, recently wrote: "Mr. Kennedy has said many times and proves every day that he is a political president. He counts upon patronage, pressures and the new prospects of election victories to help him along with his programs. All practical politics, I suppose, are slightly immoral since the rule is the end justifies the means. To be a statesman you've got to get re-elected, a foremost frontiersman told me not long ago."

Mr. Alexander put his probing finger on the reason for Senator Mansfield's recent suggestion that Berlin should be a free city. "On June 14, Senator Mansfield, the majority leader, proposed that we consider forming a free city of both East and West Berlin and having its integrity warranted by some international trusteeship."

In commenting on this, Mr. Alexander said: "Mike Mansfield's word is as good as his oath, and nobody should doubt that these words are his own and were not piped from the White House. But neither should anybody doubt the desperate White House hands began to clutch at these straws as soon as they appeared. In point of fact, a great White House favorite these days, Senator Hubert Humphrey, soon followed Mansfield to the floor with this important word from a sponsor on Pennsylvania Avenue. Humphrey said, I know we must find a way to avert nuclear war and to do so with honor and at the same time not cast aside our freedom and independence. So I wish to thank the Senator from Montana."

Holmes Alexander then went on to carefully point out that the administration's attempts to reach an agreement with Khrushchev on Berlin were inspired by expediency, by the desire of the Democrats to stay in power.

Holmes Alexander is not only a knowledgeable observer, he is a man who writes with absolute integrity, and I'm sure every Senator on Capitol Hill would agree with this statement.

In another recent column, Mr. Alexander said: "The endless river of time does not run a straight course into the ocean of eternity. The river of time, like every other, follows its terrain and flows sometimes in one direction, sometimes in another. Frequently through broad and pleasant meadows; often through terrifying restrictive canyons where the raging torrents seem to be destroying all within reach of its force."

These are not pleasant times. The freedom of mankind hangs in the balance. History is moving forward at subsonic if not supersonic speed. There is no time for us to make a mistake. If we fumble the ball in the present Berlin situation, there may be no second chance for freedom.

Let us hope, as Mr. Alexander suggests, that the Kennedy regime will put aside its desire to be re-elected and determine, instead, to re-establish freedom on this earth.

You and I are indebted to Mr. Alexander for his clear and helpful writing on the crises of our time. How do you stand, sir?

Almanac

By United Press International

Today is Saturday, Aug. 12th, the 224th day of the year with 141 to follow in 1961.

The moon is approaching its first quarter.

The morning star is Venus.

The evening stars are Mars, Saturn and Jupiter.

On this day in history: In 1658 a so-called "rattle watch" of eight men was established in the settlement of New Amsterdam. It was the first such police force in America.

In 1851, Isaac Singer was granted a patent on his sewing machine and organized his business in Boston with a capital of $40.

In 1880, famed baseball pitcher Christopher Mathewson was born.

In 1960, an Echo I satellite was orbited from Cape Canaveral and scientists said the spherical plastic balloon heralded a new era of communications. Radio and television signals were to be relayed around the world by other such satellites.

A thought for today: French philosopher Jean Jacques Rousseau said, "A man says what he knows, a woman says what will please."

"The grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men, teaching us that, denying ungodliness and worldly lust, we should live soberly, righteously, and godly, in this present world." Titus 2:11, 12.

A workable truth of the wonderful word is that a person can definitely live a clean life in the midst of an unclean world.

Youngsters Stage Costly 'Fun' Spree

FREEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Lawyers, insurance officials, authorities and two householders began a long mopping-up process Friday in the wake of an afternoon's fun for two children.

It started when a 10-year-old girl and a 7-year-old boy visited a house while its regular occupants were away. Chief Deputy Sheriff Don Scofield estimated the youngsters did $7,000 damage in a 3 1/2-hour vandalism spree in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Barcellona Wednesday.

The Barcellos and helpers, including insurance company agents, worked at the initial mopping-up task. Hoops of rubble were shoveled up, furniture was righted. But some of the damage can't be repaired easily—the lipstick smeared on expensive furniture and walls, broken and daubed pictures, torn clothing, broken lamps.

Nobody offered comment. The insurance men said there were legal questions involved. Because the girl and boy are juveniles, authorities have withheld their names.

Scofield said the youngsters were interrupted after they began throwing articles out of the windows of the Barcellona home. Clifford Scheffer, a neighbor, found the culprits hiding in a bedroom. He described the wreckage-strewn interior of the house as "fantastic."

Man Is Booked On 3 Counts By City Police

Twenty-four-year-old John W. Hogan of 3119 DeSard St. was booked by Monroe police yesterday on three counts.

He was charged with reckless driving, driving without a valid state driver's license and damage to property.

Hogan's arrest came about after a car registered to him was found abandoned on Park Avenue several weeks ago involved in an accident.

The small car had rammed into a parked automobile causing it to hit a truck, also parked on the side of the street. The accident had occurred in the early hours of the morning, according to officers and driver of the car was not located.

His bond was set at $500 and he will be tried on the three charges in Monroe city court.

The group named L. P. Davis president; Otway Denny, vice president; and Louis Healy, secretary-treasurer.

The party said it would present a complete slate of candidates in future elections.

"The people are being sold out and the country is becoming socialistic," a statement issued by the group said, "the candidates will seek office as a public trust and honor."

Official Gets Birch Society Shoes Barrage

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, almost up to his knees in sneakers, said Friday John Birch Society members have been instructed to send him tennis shoes.

The barrage of shoes, which was aimed primarily at his Sacramento office, came after he described the right-wing organization headed by candyman John Welch as a group of "wealthy businessmen, retired military officials and little old ladies in tennis shoes."

With almost 50 pair of sneakers beginning to stack up in his Capitol office and others dribbling in here and in San Francisco, Mosk said:

"I understand Birch Society cells are being instructed to send me tennis shoes. Since they so oppose foreign aid, we shall forward all shoes to charitable agencies, helping our needy anti-Communist friends overseas."

DEAN RUSK REPORTS

Negotiations Due On Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday after meeting with President Kennedy that negotiations with the Russians will take place before the Berlin crisis reaches a military boiling point.

Rusk said Allied diplomatic leaders "all understand that negotiations will occur." He declined to pinpoint the timing of the bargaining table talks.

He also warned that Berlin negotiations will not be "easy or simple."

"We should have some very difficult, complex problems ahead of us, Rusk told newsmen. "But that is what diplomacy is for."

Rusk, who returned from Europe late Thursday after meetings with NATO foreign ministers and other European leaders, stressed the unity he found among the allies in resisting Red threats to Berlin.

He said his European talks "showed a high degree of unity among the Western allies on the Berlin problem. The West is unified in being determined to defend its vital interests against pressures from the East."

But he pointed out that the Western allies also "want to take every opportunity to get a settlement through every peaceful means."

Rusk said details and the timing of negotiations with the Soviets would be the subject of continuing consultations among the Western powers. He said other NATO diplomatic leaders agreed that the timetable of such an approach "was something to talk about further."

The secretary was asked about a reported French position that continuing consultations among the Western powers.

JONESVILLE (Special) — Louisiana banks were serving farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other institutional group of leaders at the beginning of the year, according to O. R. Wurster, Catahoulas Parish Agriculture Committee member representing the Louisiana Bankers Association.

Wurster is president of the Catahoulas Bank.

Based on the 20th annual farming summary of the agricultural committee of the American Bankers Association, Wurster reported, at the beginning of the year Louisiana banks were helping farmers with $55 million in loans, five per cent more than the previous year.

Desegregation Hearing Set

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Federal District Judge Sidney Mize will hear arguments Tuesday on whether James H. Meredith's suit to desegregate the University of Mississippi applied only to the June 1961 summer session.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, New York Negro attorney representing Meredith, said she understood her petition to apply to the next succeeding semester at Ole Miss, not to the one already past.

Judge Mize declined to elaborate on the delay and recessed the hearing on a preliminary injunction after three days of testimony. The first court action was under Judge Mize in Biloxi June 12.

Mrs. Motley, retained by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said she would appeal if the judge ruled the lawsuit applied only to last June.

Meredith, 28-year-old Air Force veteran from Kosciusko, Miss., filed an application Jan. 31, 1961 to enter the summer session at Ole Miss.

Robert Ellis, registrar at Ole Miss, testified Friday concerning the procedure for handling applications. He said Meredith's application was incomplete because he did not submit the names of six recommending alumni of Ole Miss and because his application did not include his academic credits.

Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Clark testified earlier that Meredith's Army record was good but "showed a general pattern of deterioration of attitude."

The record commented that Meredith managed his personal affairs well and showed he was financially responsible. No testimony was offered on the first four years in the Army.

Meredith, a senior at Jackson State Negro College, told the court Thursday he sought help from the legal department of the NAACP because he felt his civil rights were being denied.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night, but will be under direction of Hixon Brothers Funeral home. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl W. Scott, Refugio, Tex.; one son Dennis Glenn Scott, Refugio; one daughter, Miss Sheri Jean Scott, Refugio; three brothers, Solomon Scott, Swartz, Hugh Scott, Sterling and J. L. Scott, Corpus Christi, Tex.; one sister, Mrs. Inez Thedford, Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. Scott was a gas company employee, and was born in Coldwater, Miss.

The registrar requested a jury for her trial, asked for a copy of the report and also asked that the lawsuit be thrown out of court if her attorney is not given the copy to aid in her defense.

Judge Ben C. Dawkins Jr. will preside over the hearing, in the second floor courtroom of the Monroe Post Office building.

East Carroll Parish Registrar of Voters Cecil Manning is slated for trial on charges of discrimination against Negroes on September 25.

On Dam Issue

VIDALIA (Special) — For the third time, the Concordia Parish Police Jury has gone on record as endorsing a location south of Jonesville for a dam over Black River.

Considerable controversy has arisen over whether to locate the dam below Jonesville or above Jonesville.

Juryman said that if the dam was located south of Jonesville, it would maintain a nine-foot channel as far north as Monroe as the Ouachita River and would also maintain a nine-foot channel on the Tensas River north of Clayton in Concordia Parish.

"This would provide a wonderful industrial location in Concordia Parish along the Tensas River," President S. L. "Tom" Winston Jr. said.

JONESVILLE (Special) — Louisiana banks were serving farmers with more credit and other financial services than any other institutional group of leaders at the beginning of the year, according to O. R. Wurster, Catahoulas Parish Agriculture Committee member representing the Louisiana Bankers Association.

Wurster is president of the Catahoulas Bank.

Based on the 20th annual farming summary of the agricultural committee of the American Bankers Association, Wurster reported, at the beginning of the year Louisiana banks were helping farmers with $55 million in loans, five per cent more than the previous year.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Elizabeth Ann Duncan, under sentence to die Wednesday, was granted a stay of execution Friday by the U. S. Court of Appeals.

The stay will remain in effect until the court can hear arguments on whether newspaper publicity inflamed the residents of Ventura, where Mrs. Duncan was tried, and influenced the jurors.

Mrs. Duncan, 37, was convicted of hiring two men to slay her daughter-in-law, the wife of her son, Frank, who is acting as her attorney.

Youngsters Stage Costly 'Fun' Spree

FREEMONT, Ill. (AP) — Lawyers, insurance officials, authorities and two householders began a long mopping-up process Friday in the wake of an afternoon's fun for two children.

It started when a 10-year-old girl and a 7-year-old boy visited a house while its regular occupants were away.

Lyndra Pate Arrives For Celebrations

BASTROP (Special) — Lyndra Pate, the reigning Miss Louisiana, arrived in Bastrop Thursday to begin activities in her honor on Lyndra Pate Days.

She said she felt right at home, having won the crown last fall, as queen of the North Louisiana Cotton Festival held in Bastrop. Often called an "outdoor girl," Miss Pate was escorted to Bussey Lake upon arrival to try her luck at fly-fishing. She caught 13 bream but said she was reluctant to admit it for fear of offending her escort who didn't do so well.

Friday and today have been designated Lyndra Pate Days. Directing the event are the Bastrop Jaycees with Billy Dark and John Cardaro as co-chairmen.

A luncheon sponsored by the Bastrop Civic Club and a reception sponsored by the Bastrop Association of Commerce and Industry and North Louisiana Cotton Festival were held in her honor Friday.

Approximately 200 Bastrop residents attended the reception at the International House, hosted by Jaycee Jaynes from 3-5 p.m.

Miss Pate chose a blue and white suit for the luncheon and a blue printed-sheath dress for the reception.

Today, she'll call on 25 of the Bastrop merchants who are participating in Lyndra Pate Days. Her plans, Cardaro said, are to leave late this evening.

Newly Formed Party Plans To Run Candidates

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Conservative Democratic Organization, pledged "to stand firm for states' rights and constitutional government," announced its formation Friday.

The group named L. P. Davis president; Otway Denny, vice president, and Louis Healy, secretary-treasurer.

The party said it would present a complete slate of candidates in future elections.

"The people are being sold out and the country is becoming socialistic," a statement issued by the group said, "the candidates will seek office as a public trust and honor."

Chief Deputy Sheriff Don Scofield estimated the youngsters did $7,000 damage in a 3½-hour vandalism spree in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Barcellona Wednesday.

The Barcellona and helpers, including insurance company agents, worked at the initial mopping-up task. Heaps of rubble were shoveled up, furniture was righted. But some of the damage can't be righted easily—the lipstick smeared on expensive furniture and walls, broken and daubed pictures, torn clothing, broken lamps.

Nobody offered comment. The insurance men said there were legal questions involved. Because the girl and boy are juveniles, authorities have withheld their names.

Scofield said the youngsters were interrupted after they began throwing articles out of the windows of the Barcellona home. Clifford Scheffer, a neighbor, found the culprits hiding in a bedroom. He described the wreckage-strewn interior of the house as "fantastic."

Man Is Booked On 3 Counts By City Police

Twenty-four-year-old John W. Hogan of 3119 DeSiard St., was booked by Monroe police yesterday on three counts.

He was charged with reckless driving, driving without a valid state driver's license and damage to property.

Hogan's arrest came about after a car registered to him was found abandoned on Park Avenue several weeks ago involved in an accident.

The small car had rammed into a parked automobile causing it to hit a truck, also parked on the side of the street. The accident had occurred in the early hours of the morning, according to officers and driver of the car was not located.

His bond was set at $500 and he will be tried on the three charges in Monroe city court.

Official Gets Birch Society Shoes Barrage

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Atty. Gen. Stanley Mosk, almost up to his knees in sneakers, said Friday John Birch Society members have been instructed to send him tennis shoes.

The barrage of shoes, which was aimed primarily at his Sacramento office, came after he described the right-wing organization headed by candyman John Welch as a group of "wealthy businessmen, retired military officials and little old ladies in tennis shoes."

With almost 50 pair of sneakers beginning to stack up in his Capitol office and others dribbling in here and in San Francisco, Mosk said:

"I understand Birch Society cells are being instructed to send me tennis shoes. Since they so oppose foreign aid, we shall forward all shoes to charitable agencies, helping our needy anti-Communist friends overseas."

SHOWERS are expected Saturday from the mountains of the West into western portions of the Plains states, in Gulf coast area, and from Tennessee valley into Atlantic coast states. It will continue warm in northern Plains spreading into eastern Colorado and be cooler in New England, northern Illinois and Indiana, and in extreme northwest Pacific coast. (AP Wirephoto Map)

DEAN RUSK REPORTS

Negotiations Due On Berlin Crisis

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said Friday after meeting with President Kennedy that negotiations with the Russians will take place before the Berlin crisis reaches a military boiling point.

Rusk said Allied diplomatic leaders "all understand that negotiations will occur." He declined to pinpoint the timing of the bargaining table talks.

He also warned that Berlin negotiations will not be "easy or simple."

"We should have some very difficult, complex problems ahead of us," Rusk told newsmen. "But that is what diplomacy is for, what the Department of State is for."

Rusk, who returned from Europe late Thursday after meetings with NATO foreign ministers and other European leaders, stressed the unity he found among the allies in resisting Red threats to Berlin.

He said his European talks "showed a high degree of unity among the Western allies on the Berlin problem. The West is unified in being determined to defend its vital interests against pressures from the East."

But he pointed out that the Western allies also "want to take every opportunity to get a settlement through every peaceful means."

Rusk said details and the timing of negotiations with the Soviets would be the subject of continuing consultations among the Western powers. He said other NATO diplomatic leaders agreed that the timetable of such an approach "was something to talk about further."

The secretary was asked about a reported French position that

Sanders Favors Mansion Plans

BATON ROUGE (AP) — Rep. A. T. Sanders, East Baton Rouge Parish said Friday he will cast his ballot in favor of an additional $700,000 allocation to build a million-dollar governor's mansion.

Ballots have been mailed to Louisiana's 144 legislators on the proposal by the state Bond and Building Commission to make the mansion allocation from Gov. Jimmie H. Davis' $60-million bond program. The allot contains eight other projects.

Some lawmakers have said they would vote against the proposal. The mansion allocation, approved at a meeting Tuesday, would be in addition to $300,000 voted by the 1960 legislature.

Sanders said in a statement he would vote for it because the project would help relieve unemployment in Baton Rouge.

Woman Granted Execution Stay

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Elizabeth Ann Duncan, under sentence to die Wednesday, was granted a stay of execution Friday by the U. S. Court of Appeals.

The stay will remain in effect until the court can hear arguments on whether newspaper publicity inflamed the residents of Ventura, where Mrs. Duncan was tried, and influenced the jurors.

Mrs. Duncan, 37, was convicted of hiring two men to slay her daughter-in-law, the wife of her son, Frank, who is acting as her attorney.

Desegregation Hearing Set

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Federal District Judge Sidney Mize will hear arguments Tuesday on whether James H. Meredith's suit to desegregate the University of Mississippi applied only to the June 1961 summer session.

Mrs. Constance Baker Motley, New York Negro attorney representing Meredith, said she understood her petition to apply to the next succeeding semester at Ole Miss, not to the one already past.

Judge Mize declined to elaborate on the delay and recessed the hearing on a preliminary injunction after three days of testimony. The first court action was under Judge Mize in Biloxi June 12.

Mrs. Motley, retained by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said she would appeal if the judge ruled the lawsuit applied only to last June. Meredith, 28-year-old Air Force veteran from Kosciusko, Miss., filed an application Jan. 31, 1961 to enter the summer session at

Joe D. Scott, 57, Dies On Twin City Visit

Joe Durward Scott, 57, a resident of Refugio, Tex., was dead on arrival in St. Francis hospital Friday, after suffering a heart attack while visiting in West Monroe.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete last night, but will be under direction of Hixson Brothers Funeral home. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Pearl W. Scott, Refugio, Tex.; one son Dennis Glenn Scott, Refugio; one daughter, Miss Sheri Jean Scott, Refugio; three brothers, Solomon Scott, Swartz, Hugh Scott, Sterling and J. L. Scott, Corpus Christi, Tex.; one sister, Mrs. Luez Theford, Memphis, Tenn.

Mr. Scott was a gas company employee, and was born in Coldwater, Miss.

Ole Miss. He was rejected on grounds his application was incomplete.

Robert Ellis, registrar at Ole Miss, testified Friday concerning the procedure for handling applications. He said Meredith's application was incomplete because he did not submit the names of six recommending alumni of Ole Miss and because his application did not include his academic credits.

Special Asst. Atty. Gen. Charles Clark testified earlier that Meredith's Army record was good but "showed a general pattern of deterioration of attitude."

The record commented that Meredith managed his personal affairs well and showed he was financially responsible. No testimony was offered on the first four years in the Army.

Meredith, a senior at Jackson State Negro College, told the court Thursday he sought help from the legal department of the NAACP because he felt his civil rights were being denied.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

THERE'S A REASON FOR EVERYTHING

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I run a very successful little cafe. I keep my eye on the help and when I see them abusing the equipment or getting careless in their work, I speak to them about it. I think it is my husband's place to lay down the law, but he likes to be jolly and well-liked, so I have to do the dirty work. I am tired of being the crabby old lady while my husband is the good-natured guy. Any suggestions? —OLD CRAB

DEAR O.C.: Every successful operation needs a "heavy"—and you are it. You and your good-natured husband make a good team, and share equally in the profits, so don't harness your husband with a halter that doesn't fit him.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of parents (they are also grandparents) who are too lazy, or lacking in imagination, to buy gifts for special occasions?

They send us checks for birthdays, anniversaries and even Christmas. Just before the children's birthdays (and Christmas, too) they slip me the cash and say, "Buy them something nice. You know better than we what they want."

We are not hard up, and these gifts of cash and checks seem very cold to me. How should I let the daughter-in-law let them know that their "gifts" have no sentimental value? —ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: I think your in-laws are being very practical and considerate. Many would appreciate the opportunity to select their own gifts. Shame on you: Be grateful that you are remembered, and quit finding fault.

DEAR ABBY: I have been happily married for three years, or at least I thought so. My problem is getting my husband to wear his wedding ring.

The first year of our married life he lost three wedding rings. The first one was expensive, but the next two were cheap. Then I bought him a fourth ring, and after he lost that, I began to believe he wasn't losing them at all—he was throwing them away.

He wears his wedding ring when he is with me, but every time he goes out by himself he comes back with it in his pocket. Do you think he is looking for a girl he can fool into thinking he

SOLONS, JURORS AGREE

Franklin Gravel Issue Is Settled

WINNSBORO (Special) — Franklin Parish's tough gravel distribution question has been settled.

A. J. Riser, president of the parish police jury, announced Friday that jurors, Rep. Lantz Womack and Sen. J. C. Gilbert reached an agreement in an executive meeting Thursday night.

Riser and Rep. Womack signed an agreement to distribute the gravel on a mileage basis.

The two solons then released the $28,500 to the jury to pay the bill for the gravel.

Riser said the jury and the lawmakers "reached full agreement and will work together for betterment of Franklin Parish."

The controversy involved whether or not to distribute state gravel on parish roads on a mileage or an equal allotment for each parish.

Members of the police jury had previously insisted that the gravel be distributed as an equal allotment for each ward.

Gilbert and Womack, however, refused to go along with this plan and held out for distribution of the gravel on a mileage basis, regardless of the size of the wards or the length of its roads.

Approximately 300 persons attended a meeting of the jury Tuesday night, when the issue was discussed. Signs of impending agreement were noticeable then.

Womack said a representative of the highway department will check mileage of parish roads Monday. Members of the jury were invited to accompany the checker.

HOLLANDIA, Dutch New Guinea (AP)—The New Guinea Courier reported Friday a subversive movement was smashed at the coastal town of Sorong, an oil center in Dutch New Guinea's western tip. The paper said the movement aimed at supporting Indonesian troops should they invade the country — claimed by Indonesia.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Voice Of Broadway

Silent screen star Pola Negri is heading for some new press clippings. She'll sue producer Arthur Brauner alleging she had contracted to appear in his made-in-France film, "Mistress of the World," but recently learned her role had been given to Micheline Presle. Miss Negri will claim that Brauner still owes her $9,000 in salary, and that her career "has been damaged" because she was fired from the part. Friends of actor Tod Andrews are still mystified about his headlined suicide attempt. Only a few hours before he swallowed the overdose of sleeping pills he was having a cheerful time at Danny's Hide-away. He talked about what a great year he had coming up on Broadway and in TV, and announced his engagement to Valerie Veigal, the beauty in whose apartment he allegedly tried to kill himself.

Rudy Vallee, who has had hundreds of pages of memoirs awaiting publication for years, adds regularly to his autobiography and hopes to find the right collaborator (translation: "ghost") while he's appearing on Broadway. City desks might check on the rumor that Mickey Mantle is taking acting lessons from a Manhattan coach. The Yankee hitter landed a role in a new Universal picture, and his buddies vow he's become fascinated with the art of emoting. (Quick Yogi, the greasepaint!)

at 8th Ave. and 44th.

Jacques D'Amboise, the City Center ballet star, is recuperating after an emergency appendectomy. Jazz pianist John Bunch of the Gene Krupa combo will wait down the aisle with Harper's Bazaar cover girl Carol Segermark. Anne Bancroft, exhausted after her strenuous scenes in the celluloid edition of "The Miracle Worker," has been confined to bed for the past few days. Jeannie Thomas, "Miss Virginia" in one of the Summer's many beauty contests, is reportedly writing "the truth" about the bathing suit competitions. Advance word on her opus indicates the truth isn't all complimentary to those involved. Joe Levine has latched onto another potential winner in the art house category — a film titled "No Love For Johnny." One 57th St. cinema theatre offered Joe $60,000 to steer the picture to its premises.

Circuit Shots Puts Orioles Past Boston

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles, powered by home runs off the bats of Jim Gentile and Brooks Robinson, staved off an eighth inning rally by Boston Friday night and defeated the Red Sox 6-3.

The Birds pounded three Red Sox hurlers for 12 hits as they scored in four separate innings and put at least one man on base in every inning.

The Red Sox threatened in the eighth inning when they scored two runs and had the bases loaded with one out. But Wes Stock relieved Chuck Estrada to retire the side without further damage.

Gentile's homer in the sixth was his 33rd of the year and it increased his runs batted in total to 104, putting him in a tie with New York's Roger Maris. The homer by Robinson, in the fourth, was his third. Both blows came with no one on.

Orioles' starting pitcher Billy Hoelt was credited with his second victory against three losses. He was lifted for a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Nichols, with two victories, was charged with his second loss.

Braves Edge Cubs By 3-2 On 6-Hitter

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Southpaw Warren Spahn, the Milwaukee Braves' 40-year-old wonder, gained his 30th major league victory Friday night by defeating the Chicago Cubs 2-1 with a masterful six-hitter.

Gino Cimoli's third home run of the year, a tremendous blast to left with one out in the eighth inning, broke a 1-1 tie and boosted Spahn to the goal reached by only 12 other pitchers.

Spahn became the third lefthander to make the exclusive "300" club. He is the first to make it since Lefty Grove struggled to his 300th victory while with the Boston Red Sox in 1941.

The largest Milwaukee crowd in three seasons—40,775—turned out to give Spahn a rousing ovation as he was mobbed by teammates after the final out.

Spahn doffed his cap and blew kisses to the fans as he ran happily into the dugout.

Spahn, obviously tense despite his 17 seasons with the Braves, had runners on base in every inning after the second. But he managed to work out of trouble except in the sixth.

That's when the Cubs tied it 1-1 on three singles and prevented the left-handed veteran from claiming his 53rd career shutout. It was Spahn himself who drove in the Braves' first run, with a sacrifice fly in the fifth.

The exclusive "300" set is headed by the late Cy Young, whose amazing record of 511 victories from 1890 to 1911 appears untouchable. Young won 289 games in the National League and 222 in the American while pitching for five clubs in 22 years.

Others who won more than 300 are Walter Johnson (416), Christy Mathewson and Grover Cleveland Alexander (373), Kid Nichols (369), Jim Galvin (355), Tim Lincecum (345), John Clarkson (328), Eddie Plank (325), Mike Welch (316) and Charles Radbourne (306).

Nichols, Galvin, Keefe, Clark, Welch and Radbourne are all or most of their pitching before the turn of the century. Spahn, Grove and Plank are the only left-handers in the group.

A native of Buffalo, N.Y., now an off-season rancher in Hartshorne, Okla., Spahn came up to the Braves in 1942, appearing in only four games and without being involved in a decision. He then went into the Army for three years, serving in Europe, where he was wounded, decorated for bravery and won a battlefield commission in the infantry.

He had an 8-5 record in his first full season with the Braves, in 1946, and then hit the 20-victory mark for the first time with 21-10 record in 1947. Since then, Spahn has failed to win 20 in only three seasons—1948, when he was 15-12; 1952, with 14-19, and 1955, with 17-14.

The Cubs advanced a runner to third in the eighth, but Spahn bled down and retired Billy Williams on a grounder to second, ending the inning.

With fans standing in the ninth, Spahn got Andre Rodgers on a called third strike. Cimoli then made a knee-sliding catch of a sinking liner to short center by Jerry Kindall.

Ernie Banks batted for Dick Bertell and it looked like the final out when he grounded to Eddie Mathews at third. However, the Braves' all-star third baseman threw high to first, allowing Banks to reach base on the error.

Jim McNamany then batted for losing pitcher Jack Curtis and hit a soft fly to right for the final out—and another milestone in Spahn's amazing career.

The Braves' first run was unearned. Gino Torre opened the fifth on a two-base error by Williams in left and moved to third on a single by Roy McMillan. Then he came across on Spahn's fly to left.

The Cubs tied it in the sixth. Don Zimmer singled, but was forced at second by Ron Santo. Successive singles by Williams and Rodgers brought Santo around.

Spahn struck out five, boosting his career total to 2,151—10th on the all-time list—and walked only one in squaring his season record at 12-12.

Curtis, a rookie, struck out six and walked two. He has a 7-7 record now.

With one out in the eighth, Cimoli leaned into Curtis' first pitch and lined the deciding home run half way up in the left field bleachers to the right of the 360-foot mark. That was all Spahn needed.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen
WOULD YOU WANT TO KNOW?

If you had cancer, would you want to be told the truth? More than 92 per cent of a group of physicians said yes when asked this question by the staff of the Medical Tribune. The majority believed they would find out sooner or later because of their familiarity with the disease. They felt, too, that by getting the news early, they could arrange their affairs more satisfactorily. As one physician put it, he had "many promises to keep and many miles to go before I sleep."

It is almost impossible to hide this diagnosis from a physician, but what about his patients? Would you want to be told if cancer were discovered in the stomach or lung? Let me know by writing me care of this newspaper. More than 1,300 physicians were asked whether they believed in being frank with their patients after cancer has been diagnosed. More than 50 per cent said yes, but many qualified the answer by saying it depended upon the patient's ability to cope with reality. Some doctors had an established rule along this line and were in the habit of deciding each case on an individual basis.

Some of the medical men referred to the lesion as a tumor and never used the word cancer. Nor would they say anything about the outlook. They tried to be optimistic and, as one said, the situation should be viewed "with hope, not hopelessness."

Some individuals cannot be told because they go to pieces. Others react in the same way when they discover what is wrong after being kept in the dark for some time. They lose faith in the physician and are difficult to manage thereafter. But all physicians make it a point to inform the relatives and often discuss with them the patient.

DISHPAN HANDS

H. R. H. writes: Is detergent burn (blisters, itching, burning, and swelling) due to allergy? My hands still are affected even tho I wear rubber gloves when dishwashing.

REPLY

Yes, but detergents are not necessarily responsible for dishpan hands. Other factors may play a role, including water and injury to the skin from bumping, scraping, and scratching in handling knives and pans. In addition, going out of doors in cold weather shortly after washing dishes leads to chapping, condition difficult to distinguish from dishpan hands.

SUICIDES

Mrs. L. writes: Does suicide indicate a weak or a strong mind?

REPLY

Everyone has a breaking point, which is reached sooner by the weak. On the other hand, the terms weak minded and strong minded are ambiguous. A strong minded person may find it difficult to take some types of adversity, whereas the weaker personality does not accept responsibility, hence will not worry or become depressed.

Rh INCOMPATIBILITY

D. F. writes: Is it safe for an Rh negative woman to marry an Rh positive man?

REPLY

Yes. The marriage may lead to a maternity problem later. Many miscarriages and stillbirths, as well as abnormalities of the newborn, are traceable to this combination of blood groups.

END STAGE

O. H. A. writes: Is terminal cancer when pain comes?

REPLY

Pain may come early or late or not at all. It depends upon where the cancer is located and what it is doing to the neighboring nerves, organs, and other structures.

Kennedy Signs Bill Limiting Duty Free Items

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy signed Friday a bill which permits U.S. travelers abroad to bring home duty free no more than $100 worth of goods on which tariffs are levied.

Ever since 1948, the duty-free allowance had been $500.

The new law, which Kennedy sought to improve the U.S. balance of payments position, goes into effect in 30 days. It will remain in force two years until June 30, 1963.

Because Congress delayed in passing the measure, many summer tourists will get by under the old $500 exemptions.

The new law does not restrict the amount of goods an American may bring home from his travels abroad. But he now must pay the regular tariff on the value of goods in excess of the $100 exemption.

The tariff varies with different articles and some articles are not subject to any import duty at all.

Kennedy urged cutting the duty-free exemption for tourists as part of a program to curtail the flow of U.S. dollars abroad and to ease the strain on U.S. gold holdings.

Congress, showing some opposition to the idea, took several months to pass the bill and limited it to a two-year period, instead of the four years Kennedy asked.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen
WOULD YOU WANT TO KNOW?

If you had cancer, would you want to be told the truth? More than 92 per cent of a group of physicians said yes when asked this question by the staff of the Medical Tribune. The majority believed they would find out sooner or later because of their familiarity with the disease. They felt, too, that by getting the news early, they could arrange their affairs more satisfactorily. As one physician put it, he had "many promises to keep and many miles to go before I sleep."

It is almost impossible to hide this diagnosis from a physician, but what about his patients? Would you want to be told if cancer were discovered in the stomach or lung? Let me know by writing me care of this newspaper. More than 1,300 physicians were asked whether they believed in being frank with their patients after cancer has been diagnosed. More than 50 per cent said yes, but many qualified the answer by saying it depended upon the patient's ability to cope with reality. Guests present with Miss Gates were Mary Alta Shamblin, Linda Jordan, Mrs. Lanny Greaves, Ginger Lanier, Wilma Tower, Susie Mann, Mrs. Gates, Mrs. Lanier, Sr., and the hostesses.

Baths
Think we're clean? It's said that some of the Roman emperors bathed as many as seven or eight times a day! Maybe that's because they didn't have the benefit of today's efficient soaps to wash away dirt.

PAINT TIPS
Paint won't cling to greasy walls, and besides nobody wants to paint over dirt.

If your walls are going to be painted, make sure that the painter's estimate includes a preliminary washing - which should be done under your personal supervision. Or any do-it-yourself-er can do the wall - washing with warm soap or detergent suds, washing from the floor upwards.

Miss Weir Honored With Series Of Bridal Showers

The approaching marriage on August 19 of Miss Sue Weir, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Weir, and Bobby Rainer, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Rainer, has been the inspiration for several parties this past week, Miss Weir and Mr. Rainer will be joined in marriage in the First Methodist Church in West Monroe.

The home of Mrs. Earl Nolan, on Cornell Drive in Shreveport, was the scene of a lingerie shower honoring Miss Weir on August 9. Co-hostess with Mrs. Nolan was Mrs. Terry Dean King.

The dining table was centered with a bouquet of red roses for the occasion, and the honoree wore a lavender cotton sheath, lavender accessories, and a corsage of variegated red and white carnations.

Guests assembled for the party were Mrs. O. L. Weir, Mrs. H. C. Rainer, Mrs. W. B. Killgore, Miss Beverly Norman, Miss Marie Jeanne Swann, Miss Ruth Richardson, Miss Sue Reeves, and Miss Cathy Misher.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
A miscellaneous shower was given complimentary to Miss Weir on August 8 in the home of Mrs. Jack Dew on McMillan West Monroe. Mrs. W. M. Smith, Mrs. W. W. Loftin, and Mrs. Vernon Shelby were hostesses with Mrs. Dew for the occasion.

An arrangement of yellow, bronze and white mums and white candles were placed on the dining table, and yellow mums were used elsewhere in the home.

Mrs. Smith presided over the punch bowl.

Miss Weir chose to wear a tulle-trimmed model of green-checked cotton with a full skirt and green accessories. She was presented

TERRY CLOTH
Do you use one of those popular terry-cloth - lined plastic shower caps to protect your hair-do while bathing or showering? If so, this needs to be swished through warm soap or detergent suds as soon as the terry becomes visibly soiled.

Unlined plastic or rubber shower caps also need an occasional sudsing. This is important to keep accumulated soil from "contaminating" clean hair.

TRICK TO IRON
Here's a tricky way to "iron" a child's puffed sleeves. Remove the shade from any table lamp, and turn on the light bulb which will heat up quickly. Then place the damp puffed sleeve over the lamp and pull it slowly over the hot bulb until wrinkles disappear. This method is both efficient and amusing.

Wineinger entertained Miss Weir with a kitchen shower in their home on North 12th Street in West Monroe this past week.

The table was decorated with an arrangement of pink roses. The honoree was wearing a white pique sun dress, and was presented with a corsage of white carnations with a measuring spoon attached.

Guests assembled for the occasion were: Mrs. O. L. Weir, Mrs. Cliff Streeter, Mrs. Stanley Grube, Miss Patricia Calhoun, Miss Brenda Youse, Miss Linda Mangum, Miss Denise Lewis, Miss Biddy Dupress, Miss Darlyne Gilbert and Mrs. Don Wineinger.

with a corsage of white carnations by her hostesses.

The guest list included: Mrs. J. L. Alexander, Mrs. Gus Campbell, Mrs. N. D. Vanzile, Mrs. H. L. Weir, Mrs. Alvin Knight, Mrs. P. O. Bedgood, Mrs. W. T. Graves, Mrs. T. A. Funchess, Mrs. C. L. Rehearsal Supper And Tea Fete Miss Jeanette Gates

The August fifth wedding of Miss Jeanette Elizabeth Gates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Gates, of Rayville, and Jesse Lanier, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lanier, Sr., of Bessemer, Ala., was the inspiration for a gala pre-nuptial tea on Thursday, August 3, in the home of Mrs. Richard Hatch, of Rayville. Hostesses for the occasion with Mrs. Hatch were Mrs. J. M. Shamblin, Mrs. Foster Jones, Sr., Mrs. Rilla DeFour, Mrs. Joe Brown, Mrs. Dallas Thomason, Mrs. Stewart Byers and Mrs. Bernard Waite.

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Shamblin, and received by Miss Gates, the honoree; her mother, Mrs. T. L. Gates; Mrs. Jesse Lanier, Sr., mother of the groom-elect, and Miss Ginge Lanier, his sister.

The honoree wore a short model of gray chiffon, worn with silver slippers and a corsage of white tuberoses and dainty antique pearls, the gift of her hostesses.

Tall white baskets overflowing with summer flowers marked the front entrance. The reception rooms were attractive with artistic arrangements of pink and red roses. The mantel featured a massive triangular arrangement of pink roses, interspersed with fragrant white tuberoses and greenery.

At a table adorned with an anniversary candle, trimmed with tulle and white tuberoses, Miss Linda Jordan presided at the bride's book, registering the many guests who called during the appointed hours.

The tea table was overlaid with an imported cutwork cloth of white embroidered linen, and had for its centerpiece a unique arrangement of tiffany roses in a silver-footed crystal bowl. Triple candelabra of silver, holding tall white tapers, flanked the centerpiece.

Alternating at the crystal punch bowl were Mrs. Lee Ineichen and Mrs. Dan Chapman.

Miss Linda Ineichen assisted guests in viewing the gifts, which were displayed on long white tables with floor-length ruffled overskirts of sheer white organ-dy.

Miss Mary Alta Shamblin, Miss Wilma Tower and Miss Jerri Byers assisted as tea girls.

Gift of the hostesses to Miss Gates was an electric mixer.

Guests calling during the afternoon were from Rayville, Girard, Mangham, Alto, Archibald, Shreveport, Monroe, La., and Bessemer, Ala.

Dinettes Redesigned For Young Moderns

By BETTY PEPIS

Both the room and the mood have disappeared, but the name still lingers on. We refer, of course, to the dinette, that cubby hole off the kitchen in which families of the thirties repaired to dine because they had no dining room.

Many are still without today, but new approaches to the art of dining have created space for eating in the larger kitchen or even in that catch-all we call the family room. Dinette furniture has gone along with the move and been redesigned so that it fits in with these more carefully decorated rooms, rather than casually fitted into a disregrated corner.

Furniture of this type bears little resemblance to its early chrome-based, white enamel forbears of the mid-twenties. Metal bases and strain-resistant tops are still the identifying marks, but the metal is more apt to be in coppery tones or colors and the tops very often are of chip-proof plastic simulating wood grains and colors.

Concluding Parties For Miss Carter, Mr. Drost

Concluding parties prior to the marriage of Miss Judith Dell Carter of West Monroe, and Dale Drost of Sulphur, were a rehearsal dinner last evening and a bridesmaids' luncheon this morning, Miss Carter is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delma Carter, and Mr. Drost the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Drost. They will be wed in the First Baptist Church in West Monroe at 7:30 this evening.

The bridesmaids' luncheon is being given at the Highland Park Country Club this morning, and the hostesses are Mrs. E. M. Watkins, Mrs. A. J. Lester, and Mrs. William Norris, III.

The guest list includes: Miss Carter, Miss Betty Carter, Miss Amy Hood, Miss Linda Atkins, Miss Mary Elizabeth Heard, Miss Jill Watkins, Mrs. Roger Drost, Mrs. Delma Carter, and Mrs. Robert Mears.

A particularly effective set in this last style is one by Howell, which apex real dining room furniture with its round top (works better in small space) and pedestal base (more room for legs). Other up-to-date sets have plastic mats to match the upholstery and swivel chair. A particularly good idea for the family room in a pair of tables—game sized. Put together they create a banquet table 84 inches long, adequate space to serve eight.

THIS DINETTE SET INTRODUCED bright white into an open kitchen plan. Its plastic top and baked enamel finish on legs are sturdy enough to take hard wear, yet attractive enough to occupy a family room as well as a kitchen. Pedestal bases, becoming popular for all types of furniture, give a light look to small rooms—and in the case of the table offer more leg room for those eating at it.

Rehearsal Supper And Tea Fete Miss Jeanette Gates

The August fifth wedding of Miss Jeanette Elizabeth Gates, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Gates, of Rayville, and Jesse Lanier, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lanier, Sr., of Bessemer, Ala., was the inspiration for a gala pre-nuptial tea on Thursday, August 3, in the home of Mrs. Richard Hatch, of Rayville. Hostesses for the occasion with Mrs. Hatch were Mrs. J. M. Shamblyn, Mrs. Foster Jones, Sr., Mrs. Rilla DeFour, Mrs. Joe Brown,

The guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Shamblyn, and received by Miss Gates, the honoree; her mother, Mrs. T. L. Gates, Mrs. Jesse Lanier, Sr., mother of the groom-elect, and Miss Ginga Lanier, his sister. The honoree wore a short model of gray chiffon, worn with silver slippers and a corsage of white tuberose and dainty antique pearls, the gift of her hostesses. Tall white baskets overflowing with summer flowers marked the front entrance. The reception rooms were attractive with artistic arrangements of pink and red roses. The mantel featured a massive triangular arrangement of pink roses, interspersed with fragrant white tuberose and greenery. At a table adorned with an anniversary candle, trimmed with tulle and white tuberose, Miss Linda Jordan presided at the bride's book, registering the many guests who called during the appointed hours.

The tea table was overlaid with an imported cutwork cloth of white embroidered linen, and had for its centerpiece a unique arrangement of tiffany roses in a silver-footed crystal bowl. Triple candelabra of silver, holding tall white tapers, flanked the centerpiece.

Alternating at the crystal punch bowl were Mrs. Lee Ineichen and Mrs. Dan Chapman.

Miss Linda Ineichen assisted guests in viewing the gifts, which were displayed on long white tables with floor-length ruffled overskirts of sheer white organza.

Miss Mary Alta Shamblyn, Miss Wilma Tower and Miss Jerri Byers assisted as tea girls.

Gift of the hostesses to Miss Gates was an electric mixer. Guests calling during the afternoon were from Rayville, Girard, Mangham, Alto, Archibald, Shreveport, Monroe, La., and Bessemer, Ala.

REHEARSAL DINNER

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Eugene Lanier, of Bessemer, Ala., were hosts at a supper party on Friday evening, following the wedding rehearsal.

The T-shaped table at the Magnolia Restaurant was covered with a cloth of white linen and appointed with a centerpiece of white roses, clematis and tuberose, which was fashioned by Mrs. Hollis Venable. Triple candelabra of crystal with glowing white tapers and bowls of white clematis added to the attractiveness of the table. The place of each guest was marked by a card adorned with white flowers.

Miss Gates was attired in a short black sheath model with which she wore matching accessories and a corsage of split white carnations sprinkled with pearls which was a gift of her hosts.

The honor guests chose this occasion to present gifts to their attendants.

OPEN - FACE STORAGE

No better evidence of our open, relaxed style of living can be found than in the modern trend to take interesting and decorative items out of hidden storage and put them on prominent display in the living areas of the home. Recessed storage walls made of attractive, easy-to-clean materials are being used to display hundreds of items such as gun collections, trophies, hobby items, books, driftwood, and stuffed animals.

Dinettes Redesigned For Young Moderns

By BETTY PEPIS

Both the room and the mood have disappeared, but the name still lingers on. We refer, of course, to the dinette, that cubby hole off the kitchen in which families of the thirties repaired to dine because they had no dining room.

Many are still without today, but new approaches to the art of dining have created space for eating in the larger kitchen or even in that catch-all we call the family room. Dinette furniture has gone along with the move and been redesigned so that it fits in with these more carefully decorated rooms, rather than casually fitted into a disreputable corner.

Furniture of this type bears little resemblance to its early chrome-based, white enamel forbears of the mid-twenties. Metal bases and strain-resistant tops are still the identifying marks, but the metal is more apt to be in coppery tones or colors and the tops very often are of chip-proof plastic simulating wood grains and colors.

Chairs and tables in these beige and brown tones blend better into our wood-cabineted kitchens which seem to have replaced the pastel filled kitchens of a couple of years back. They also seem more at home in family rooms that are primarily furnished with wooden pieces.

A notable exception is the revived interest in white, a not surprising trend when one considers that the clean-offable quality of many of today's synthetics have brought about acceptance of this formerly impractical "color" even in a home with small children about.

Materials and colors are not the only changes observed. Styling has kept pace with periods in favor this year. Informal dining pieces may be found in designs that blend with Early American, Danish and Italian provincial furniture, as well as the more expected modern.

A particularly effective set in this last style is one by Howell, which apes real dining room furniture with its round top (works better in small space) and pedestal base (more room for legs). Other up-to-date sets have plastic mats to match the upholstery and swivel chair. A particularly good idea for the family room in a pair of tables—game sized. Put together they create a banquet table 84 inches long, adequate space to serve eight.

YOUR PROBLEMS

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: I need some help with my 11-year-old daughter. I raised her without a father—he left shortly after the girl was born. Now I know what you mean when you say a child needs two parents.

Ever since Eunice was a tot she was overly affectionate with men. She loved to sit on their laps, hug and kiss them.

This was considered cute when she was a toddler and naturally she received a lot of affection in return. I thought she'd outgrow this lap-sitting and hair-combing, but she hasn't.

She kisses the delivery men, the paper boy, her girl-friend's father anyone in trousers. I'm terribly worried about where it may lead. Please tell me how I can put a stop to it. —WORRIED SICK

Dear Worried: Little girls who grow up with no father are often starved for male attention. They try to compensate for this loss by behaving aggressively with "anyone in trousers."

Your daughter needs professional help. Contact your family doctor, clergyman or the local mental health clinic. An expert who knows how to deal with troubled children may be able to change the course of this girl's life.

Dear Ann Landers: Have you got some pull with the shoe manufacturers? Please say something about the monstrosities they force us women to wear. For two years we've had to cram our feet into a needle-pointed horror. Now they are coming out with a square-toed nightmare. Who ever heard of a woman's foot coming to a point—or a square foot, for that matter?

I'm not ashamed to admit that I'm vain and wouldn't be caught dead in last year's styles. As a result I'm a near cripple. If enough women complain the manufacturers will have to change the styles. Please say something and help liberate us from this trend to foot torture. —LIMPING LOU

Dear Limping: Don't blame the shoe manufacturers. It's the women who are to blame. Females who complain about shoe styles fall into two categories. The majority of screamers are vain dames who, 20 years ago, wore 5 A, and are loathe to give up the fantasy that their iddy-biddy footies have spread a bit—what with four pregnancies and an added 20 years. It isn't the style that's murdering them, it's the "size."

The second group of complainers have long since wrecked their feet with ill-fitting footwear and if they wore the boxes instead of the shoes, their feet would still hurt.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband passed away eight months ago. Since then I have stayed home night and day and worked myself half to death so my time would be occupied and I wouldn't go crazy with grief.

Several woman friends and a few gentlemen have invited me to dinner and other places, and I'd like to accept but my mother-in-law says no decent woman would accept a social invitation before "a year is up." She says I owe it to the memory of my husband to show him this respect.

We were happily married for 14 years and I feel I "showed my respect" by being a good wife and mother. Do you think my mother-in-law is right? I need your advice. —STIR NUTS

Dear Stir Nuts: Life is for the living. If you think you would enjoy an evening out—"go."

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for "Ann Landers' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?" enclosing with your request 20 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Site Donated For Hospital At Ferriday

FERRIDAY (Special) — A ten acre site for location of the proposed new Hill - Burton Hospital here has been donated by the heirs of the late Andrew Brown Learned, of Natchez, Miss.

Donation of the land by Howard B. Peabody Jr., grandson of the late industrialist and landowner of Natchez, has been approved and preliminary plans for the new hospital will get under way immediately.

The proposed site, north of Ferriday on the Ferriday - Clayton highway, has been approved by members of the Concordia Parish Hospital board, which includes O. R. Rhodes, chairman, Gerald DeLaune, Ferriday, Willard S. Schuchts, Bogmore, W. S. Johnson, Vidalia and C. V. Nichols of Vidalia.

Following approval by the hospital board, the site was also approved by the Concordia Parish police jury.

Approval of the $1,050,000 hospital, which will be erected with matching federal and local funds was given by the electors of the parish two months ago and Yearger and Associates of Alexandria were named architects for the project.

A representative of the architects and a hospital consultant, together with the members of the hospital board and the parish police jury will meet at 10 a.m. Aug. 23.

Preliminary drawings for the new building will be presented and plans for the beginning of work on the proposed new hospital will be discussed.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Food is designed to do more than fill up the stomach and relieve hunger pangs. It has to provide proper nourishment for bones, teeth, nerves, muscles, blood and cells of the body. A diet which is made up of all the known types of food is calculated to do just that.

Of what should such a diet consist? Milk, of course, three or four cups of it each and every day. It may be used as a beverage or it may be made into a food or added to other solid foods. If a child, who is not allergic to milk, refuses to drink this much, then dry, milk solids can be added to the fluid milk he will take. This increases its protein and calcium content.

4 TIMES A DAY

Vegetables and fruits should be served four or more times a day. They can be used interchangeably, may be both cooked and raw but must contain some of those fruits which offer a high content of vitamin C—the citrus fruits.

The child should have all kinds of meats (especially organ meats) and also eggs, poultry and fish. Peas and beans can be used as alternate protein but with the knowledge that they are a good but not a complete protein as are the meats.

Breads and cereals for growing children will provide more of the necessary vitamins and minerals if they are made of the whole grains. One hale and hearty old gentleman of 89, with whom I once was well acquainted, never ate white bread. His father, who was a doctor, had told him that while bread had no substance, and he refused all but dark breads and preferred rye.

"MODERN" DOCTOR

This same doctor also counseled his wife to save some of the water in which vegetables were cooked and thicken and season this as an accompaniment. This wonderfully "modern" old doctor was my grandfather and his folk wisdom about food predated the scientific information on vitamins and minerals which confirmed it.

Good nutrition means that the child should have a wide variety of foods belonging to what, for simplicity sake, may be called the milk group, the meat group, the vegetable and fruit group and the cereal group. See that more than one of each of these appear tal will be discussed. Officials of the parish and members of the hospital board thanked Peabody and members of the family for the donation of the land. Mr. Learned and his family own considerable land in Concordia parish.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

Food is designed to do more than fill up the stomach and relieve hunger pangs. It has to provide proper nourishment for bones, teeth, nerves, muscles, blood and cells of the body. A diet which is made up of all the known types of food is calculated to do just that.

Of what should such a diet consist? Milk, of course, three or four cups of it each and every day. It may be used as a beverage or it may be made into a food or added to other solid foods. If a child, who is not allergic to milk, refuses to drink this much, then dry, milk solids can be added to the fluid milk he will take. This increases its protein and calcium content.

4 TIMES A DAY

Vegetables and fruits should be served four or more times a day. They can be used interchangeably, may be both cooked and raw but must contain some of those fruits which offer a high content of vitamin C—the citrus fruits.

The child should have all kinds of meats (especially organ meats) and also eggs, poultry and fish. Peas and beans can be used as alternate protein but with the knowledge that they are a good but not a complete protein as are the meats.

Breads and cereals for growing children will provide more of the necessary vitamins and minerals if they are made of the whole grains. One half and hearty old gentleman of 89, with whom I once was well acquainted, never ate white bread. His father, who was a doctor, had told him that white bread had no substance, and he refused all but dark breads and preferred rye.

"MODERN" DOCTOR

This same doctor also counseled his wife to save some of the water in which vegetables were cooked and thicken and season this as an accompaniment. This wonderfully "modern" old doctor was my grandfather and his folk wisdom about food predated the scientific information on vitamins and minerals which confirmed it.

Good nutrition means that the child should have a wide variety of foods belonging to what, for simplicity sake, may be called the milk group, the meat group, the vegetable and fruit group and the cereal group. See that more than one of each of these appear

Site Donated For Hospital At Ferriday

FERRIDAY (Special) — A ten acre site for location of the proposed new Hill - Burton Hospital here has been donated by the heirs of the late Andrew Brown Learned, of Natchez, Miss.

Donation of the land by Howard B. Peabody Jr., grandson of the late industrialist and landowner of Natchez, has been approved and preliminary plans for the new hospital will get under way immediately.

The proposed site, north of Ferriday on the Ferriday - Clayton highway, has been approved by members of the Concordia Parish Hospital board, which includes O. R. Rhodes, chairman, Gerald DeLaune, Ferriday, Willard S. Schuchs, Frogmore, W. S. Johnson, Vidalia and C. V. Nichols of Vidalia.

Following approval by the hospital board, the site was also approved by the Concordia Parish police jury.

Approval of the $1,050,000 hospital, which will be erected with matching federal and local funds was given by the electors of the parish two months ago and Yeager and Associates of Alexandria were named architects for the project.

A representative of the architects and a hospital consultant, together with the members of the hospital board and the parish police jury will meet at 10 a.m. Aug. 23.

Preliminary drawings for the new building will be presented and plans for the beginning of work on the proposed new hospital will be discussed.

Tribal Warfare Flares In Congo

LAC MUKAMBA, the Congo (AP)—Bow and arrow warriors stand guard here over the charred ruins of a dozen African villages devastated in a new and savage outbreak of tribal fighting.

Luntu tribesmen and invading Baluba soldiers from South Kasai met in battle around this old Congo holiday resort as soon as U. N. troops were withdrawn from the area.

Barely a hut remains undamaged. Rows of gutted homes stretch out for miles after the Luntu survivors claim hundreds of men, women and children were butchered in the three-day massacre.

Lac Mukamba now is like a town withstanding a siege. It is cut off from the outside world by broken bridges and great jungle trees felled across narrow roads. Only by helicopter is it possible to reach here.

When the ship put down, Luntu approached it menacingly with homemade guns, spears and bows and poisoned-tipped arrows at the ready. The U. N. helicopter pilot threw out his K-rations and the warriors lowered their weapons.

The Luntu poured out of a big, tin-roofed shack they have turned into a fortress. It is the only building for miles around still standing.

From the air, villagers could be seen taking from the ruins of their homes. As the helicopter passed overhead, they stopped to wave white flags as an appeal for help. But the nearest U. N. troops now are based at Lulubourg, 50 miles away.

The withdrawal of U. N. Ghanaian soldiers from Lac Mukamba has never been announced and no explanation has been given. There is no sign of Albert Kalonji's troops, for whom the U. N. withdrawal was the signal to swarm in from South Kasai in a bid to recover territory they claim traditionally belongs to them. And the battle the Balubas apparently went back to their outposts across the disputed and undefined frontier.

On the North Kasai shore of the lovely lake, all is devastation. A gas station, that once catered to hundreds of Belgians who flocked here on vacation, was smashed and burned. So too was a nearby Catholic mission settlement evacuated before the latest bloodshed began. Villages along the lake shore have been wrecked and looted.

This is the second disaster which has overtaken the Luntu tribe in recent weeks. Congolese soldiers from Lulubourg staged a bloody reprisal raid last month, killing hundreds in Kapembwe village and along the road to Lulubourg.

Said one grizzled Luntu chief: "It seems everyone is my enemy. How can we fight against so many?"

COULD CARRY BOMBS

Titov Describes Soviet Spaceship

MOSCOW (AP) — Cosmonaut Maj. Gherman Titov told a conference of newsmen and diplomats Friday his spaceship could have carried two men but "is not fitted out to carry bombs."

The spaceman, who last Sunday and Monday spent more than 25 hours making 17 trips around the earth, was the central figure of the conference even though some of the scientists who had a major hand in sending him aloft spoke before him.

The 26-year-old pilot was remarkably at ease. All questions had to be written out in advance, and the answers were prepared partly by the scientists and in parts ad-libbed by Titov himself. One question which brought a quick silence to the hall had to do with whether the spaceship could carry a bomb.

"You said that you could land the spaceship Vostok II on any point on the earth," said the written question by an American correspondent. "Does this mean that you could have carried a bomb to any point?"

"What can I say to this?" Titov replied gravely. "It has been stated repeatedly by the Soviet government that Soviet space expeditions serve peaceful purposes exclusively. I think this is common knowledge by now and there should really be no need to repeat this. But since this question has arisen, I can tell confidentially that space ship Vostok II is not fitted out to carry bombs."

But the fact remains that a spaceship could be a bomb circling the earth if the Soviet Union chose to make it so, and the same controls would bring it down on designated spots.

Another correspondent asked a parallel question — whether foreign correspondents "may be allowed to witness the launching as they are in the United States."

"Yes, they will be," replied Mstislav Keldysh, a member of the Academy of Science who was presiding at the meeting and who handled the technical questions.

Titov said he and Yuri Gagarin, the Soviet Union's first spaceman, had long talks before his flight and that both were sure it would be successful.

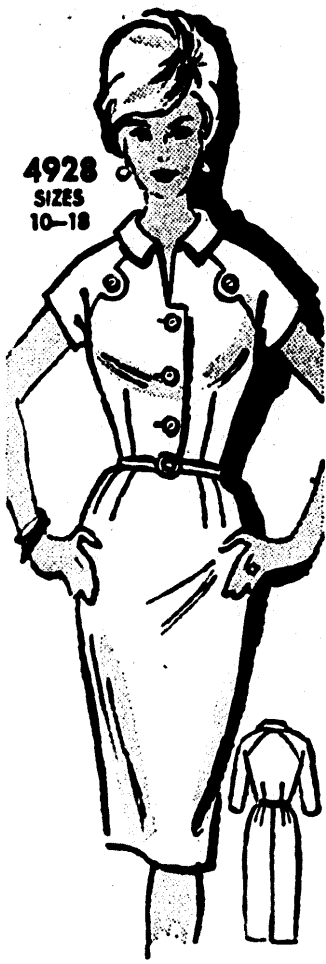

Then he added: "We have no doubt that the third flight will be successful also."

URGES FARE CUT

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., Friday urged airlines to reduce fares by eliminating fancy meals and champagne flights.

He noted in a prepared statement that he and other members of the Senate aviation subcommittee had made these views known to airline representatives during hearings last month.

COULD CARRY BOMBS

Titov Describes Soviet Spaceship

MOSCOW (AP) — Cosmonaut Maj. Gherman Titov told a conference of newsmen and diplomats Friday his spaceship could have carried two men but "is not fitted out to carry bombs."

The spaceman, who last Sunday and Monday spent more than 23 hours making 17 trips around the earth, was the central figure of the conference even though some of the scientists who had a major hand in sending him aloft spoke before him.

The 26-year-old pilot was remarkably at ease. All questions had to be written out in advance, and the answers were prepared partly by the scientists and in parts ad-libbed by Titov himself. One question which brought a quick silence to the hall had to do with whether the spaceship could carry a bomb.

"You said that you could land the spaceship Vostok II on any point on the earth," said the written question by an American correspondent. "Does this mean that you could have carried a bomb to any point?"

"What can I say to this?" Titov replied gravely. "It has been stated repeatedly by the Soviet government that Soviet space expeditions serve peaceful purposes exclusively. I think this is common knowledge by now and there should really be no need to repeat this. But since this question has arisen, I can tell confidentially that space ship Vostok II is not fitted out to carry bombs."

But the fact remains that a spaceship could be a bomb circling the earth if the Soviet Union chose to make it so, and the same controls would bring it down on designated spoils.

Another correspondent asked a parallel question — whether foreign correspondents "may be allowed to witness the launching as they are in the United States."

"Yes, they will be," replied Matislav Keldysh, a member of the Academy of Science who was presiding at the meeting and who handled the technical questions.

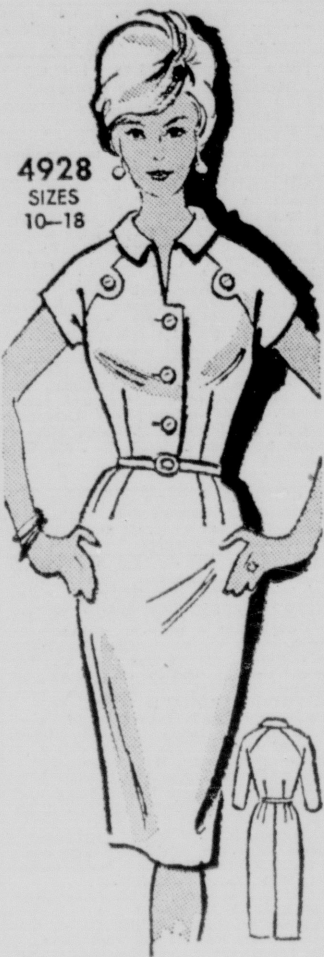

Titov said he and Yuri Gagarin, the Soviet Union's first space man, had long talks before his flight and that both were sure it would be successful.

Then he added: "We have no doubt that the third flight will be successful also."

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Clair Engle, D-Calif., Friday urged airlines to reduce fares by eliminating fancy meals and champagne flights.

He noted in a prepared statement that he and other members of the Senate aviation subcommittee had made these views known to airline representatives during hearings last month.
